Mediation Board Gets Coal Strike

WAGE DISPUTE CERTIFIED TO DEFENSE GROUP

Perkins Acts After Southern Producers Declare Talks In Hopeless Deadlock.

PACKERS INCREASE PAY

Railroad Workmen Agree To Extend Work Week to 48 Hours In South.

BULLETIN

SAN DIEGO—(INS)—Approximately 13,000 national defense construction workers walked off their jobs in San Diego today in a strike for higher wages.

(By Associated Press)

The National Defense Mediation board took command today of efforts to settle the soft coal tie-up.

Secretary Perkins certified the 24-day-old wage dispute to the board after southern operators withdrew from conferences with CIO United Mine Workers in New York last night. The southern producers declared the negotiations were "hopelessly deadlocked."

Ten thousand Southern Railway shopmen were reported by the Knoxville Journal to have voted to extend their work week from 40 to 48 hours, at the present wage scale, to "fill the gap in ranks of skilled labor caused by the national defense program."

Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner of Michigan named a special commission to mediate a contract dispute between the CIO United Automobile Workers and General Motors corporation.

The Cudahy, Swift and Wilson packing companies announced 8 per cent wage increases for more than 31,000 production and maintenance workers in Chicago.

The soft coal dispute affects some 400,000 miners and 7,000 producers in the eight-state Applacian area and in outlying districts where wage scales customarily follow the Applachian contract.

Because of the developing coal shortage, four blast furnaces at Cleveland and Youngstown, Ohio, have been shut down. President Roosevelt took notice of the growing seriousness of the situation Monday night when he declared that "national safety" demands prompt reopening of the mines. At

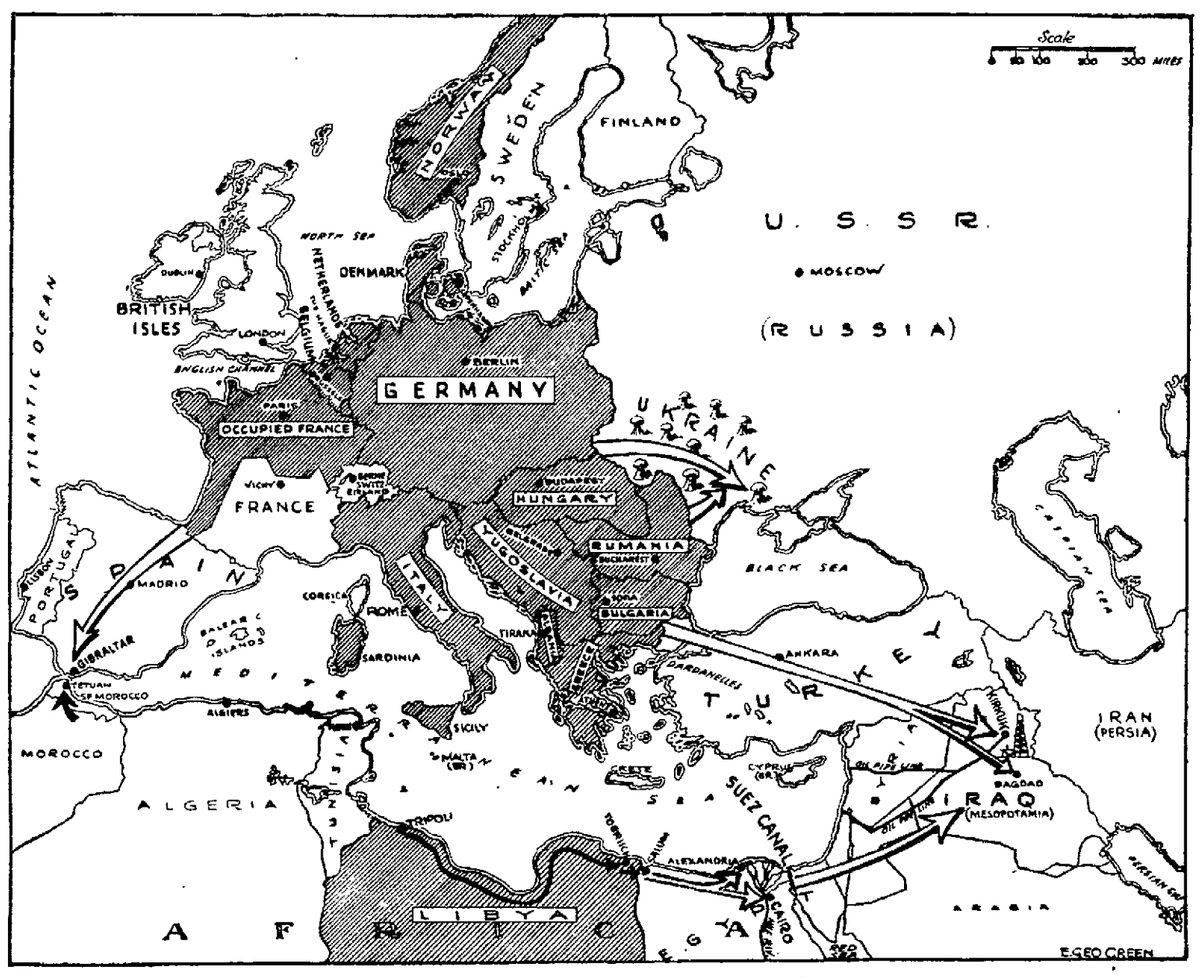
How Nazis Aim to Engulf Mediterranean, Eastern Oil Fields



With defeat near for Anglo-Greek armies in Greece, the Axis has accomplished successfully another step in what appears to be a long-range campaign to secure complete control of the Mediterranean sea, cut Great Britain's "life-line" to the Far East and India, and secure possession of the oil fields of Iraq. Several moves now appear possible for the German high command and all of them have been rumored at least once from various European sources as the next possible Nazi step. One report is that the Germans may move into the grain fields of Soviet Russia's Ukraine district. Another is that the Axis may concentrate upon a two-pronged move to reach Iraq and to capture the Suez canal, continuing their thrust eastward from Libya and driving through Turkey. Stories emanating from Vichy say that German officials have sought Spanish permission to move troops through Spain to attack Gibraltar and close the western entrance of the Mediterranean.

British Rearguard Holds Thermopylae

Germans Admit Fighting Continues In Historic Pass as London Abandons Hope That Nazi Advance Can Be Stopped for Long; Area to Be Sold 'Dearly.'

(By United Press)

A valiant British rearguard made a last stand in Greece today in the region of Thermopylae, presumably protecting the withdrawal of the main British and possibly Greek, forces by sea.

The German high command admitted that fighting still is in progress near the coastal gap where Leonidas and his 300 warriors fought to the last man against the Persians.

It seemed that the British rearguard might sell itself as dearly in a desperate effort to slow the avalanche of steel-clad machines which Germany has poured into Greece.

There was no hope in London that the German drive could be stopped for long.

A London military spokesman said the British still hold out in the Thermopylae area. The German high command said that the British lines in the region of the pass have been penetrated but failed to confirm the unofficial Nazi claim—made yesterday—that all resistance at Thermopylae had been broken and that German troops were rushing down on Athens.

British Accept Balkan Defeat

(By Associated Press)

LONDON — Frankly writing off the diplomatic and military campaign in the Balkans as a defeat, the British press and public, in a heightening critical mood and chafing under a blackout of definite news from the Greek front, grimly awaited unfolding of the full picture of Britain's reverses.

Two questions were dominant today:

Where are the imperial forces, last reported yesterday falling back on Athens?

Where will the Nazi blitz legions strike next?

British saw a lone note of encouragement in North Africa, where Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell, commander of British middle east forces, was reported to have poised his army for a decisive clash with the Axis merchanized spearhead that has struck across Libya into Egypt.

London newspapers, which until now had scrupulously avoided criticism of the conduct of the Balcan campaign, today reflected a mounting inclination to call for an accounting.

The Daily Mail said, "The government would do well to realize there is a feeling of grave uneasiness in the country at recent events in the Mediterranean. This uneasiness is born of the conviction that something more could have been done, or some thing could have been done differently or more promptly."

The Daily Mail recalled David Lloyd George's assertion in 1915 that the allied forces in the World war had "been dogged by the

BOMBERS MAKE FIERCE ASSAULT ON GREEK PORTS

Athenians Ignore Air Raid Alarms as Smoke Rolls Across Ancient City.

(By Associated Press)

ATHENS — Waves of German dive bombers are concentrating a fierce assault on Greece's major ports and hammering relentlessly at Greek-British troops fighting an uneven battle against Nazi mechanized units thundering on Athens from the north.

Though meager reports from the battlefront were ominous there was no indication of a mass exodus from this capital, already abandoned by the government for the island of Crete.

Clouds of smoke rolled across the city yesterday as the Germans pounded the nearby port of Piraeus with high explosives and sirens sounded alarm after alarm, but still no bombs fell in Athens itself.

Nazis Admit Drive's Checked

BERLIN — (AP) — The German high command claimed today only that its blitz forces had "succeeded in breaking into Thermopylae positions" in the thrust toward Athens 100 miles south of the storied pass where Leonidas and his Spartans died.

British rearguard units held the pass, the high command said, calling the terrain there "especially favorable"—presumably for the defense.

Unrepeated was the claim to a break-through there such as was reported yesterday by authorized Berlin sources.

(Authorized quarters yesterday said British attempting to hold the pass had been annihilated and German panzer units were moving toward Athens.)

Thirty British tanks were destroyed between Larisa and Lamia before the pass was approached, the high command communique said.

Authorized quarters declared today there was no great significance in the exact location of the German army at present, holding that only dynamited bridges and natural obstacles were its major problems.

"The only question remaining is how many Tommies we can annihilate before they can make a getaway," it was said.

These quarters expressed doubt that the Greeks and their allies would attempt to retreat across the narrow land bridge beyond Athens to the Peloponnesus for a last stand there. If that was the intention, they said, the Greek

3 MANSFIELD HOMES LOOTED

Daytime Burglaries Lead To Warning By Chief to Keep House Doors Locked.

With his department investigating the burglary of three Mansfield homes yesterday afternoon, Police Chief Meade K. Bates today asked all residents to keep doors locked while working in gardens or remote parts of homes.

Burglars entered and ransacked three homes between the hours of 1:30 and 5 p. m. Mrs. H. W. Gibbs, 549 East Townview Circle, reported that $50 worth of jewelry was stolen from her home while she was working in her garden.

In the other burglaries, the thieves took only a U. S. army revolver and a small amount of change after ransacking the homes of H. R. Talmadge, 579 Edgewood road, and C. F. Tharp, 660 Lexington avenue.

Mrs. Gibbs said that she had locked the side door of her home and had placed the key in the milk box while gardening. Shortly before 4 p. m., she returned to the side door to find the key gone and the door locked from the inside. She also discovered the front door standing open.

A passing motorist, John C. Ditwiller, 117 West Third street, accompanied Mrs. Gibbs when she entered the house. They found the drawers of desks and bureaus ransacked and furniture thrown about the rooms.

Mrs. Gibbs called the police and after they had completed their investigation discovered that a cameo brooch valued at $25, and

Giant Treasury Revenue Plan Aired By Secretary

Morgenthau Tells Congress to Act for Reduced Non-Defense Spending, Profiteer Check In Crisis.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Secretary Morgenthau asked congress today for $3,500,000,000 new taxes, greater defense production, reduced non-defense spending, and safeguards against profiteering.

"We are faced with a greater challenge than any in the history of the republic," the treasury head told the house ways and means committee. "It calls for a much greater response than has yet been made.

"The American people are prepared to make such a response and to make it willingly. . . .

"How much is it worth to be a free man living in a free land? . . . The American people are willing to pay that price."

Morgenthau made no specific recommendations about how the new taxes should be raised in his formal statement. He said others would present the treasury's viewpoint.

These treasury proposals have been reported at the capitol to provide steep increases in income

Bumsteads Offer N-J Readers $100 For Baby's Name

Like a lot of parents, Blondie and Dagwood Bumstead found that it's no easy task picking a name for a baby. So they have decided to let News-Journal readers help them name Baby Dumpling's little sister who arrived nearly two weeks ago.

Even with all the girls' names there are to choose from, Blondie and Dagwood have thought and thought and they can't decide on a name they like.

The little girl has received hundreds of gifts and she's one of the best known babies in the country, but despite all that, she is still nameless.

If the name chosen by a News-Journal reader satisfies all the members of the Bumstead family—Blondie, Dagwood, Baby Dumpling, and Daisy—they will pay $100 for it.

All there is to do in the contest is to write a sentence of not more than 25 words, including the name and the reason for selecting it. The sentence should read like this: "I think this name is suitable for the baby because . . . . ."

Entries must be mailed before midnight, April 30, to P. O. Box 6, Grand Central annex, New York City. The $100 prize will be awarded as soon after April 30 as the entries can be checked.

FROST FEARED

Gardeners, Orchardists Get Warning From Weatherman.

With frost forecast for tonight, gardeners and orchardists in Northcentral Ohio were warned today to take steps to protect plants and trees as far as possible.

The weatherman said the weather will be colder with light to heavy frost throughout most of the state. It will be fair and warmer Friday, he added.

The mercury dropped to 37 degrees early today, but a brisk north wind made it seem colder. High yesterday was 62 and the average for the past 24 hours was 49.5 degrees, about average for this date in April. It was 46 at noon today.

It was chilly today throughout the middle west and there was no immediate promise of temperature readings in the 80's like Mansfield had last week, the forecast showed.

CLAIM DAMAGE

LONDON —(AP)— The 26,000-ton German battleship Scharnhorst is "believed" to have been put out of commission "for some months" and her mate, the Gneisenau, also has been damaged in recent British raids on Brest, the Press Association, a British news agency, said.

LOSES ARM

That's Price Chicken Thief Pays For Temporary Freedom.

LONDON, O. — (AP) — George Linn, 61-year-old convicted chicken thief who walked away from the London prison farm in September, 1938, was behind the institution's bars again today with a missing left arm to show for his two and a half years of freedom.

Linn, returned to prison authorities by Sheriff Ed Redman of Muskingum county, said he lost his arm in a fall beneath a freight train near Gallipolis during his flight and was treated in a Gallipolis hospital before returning to his home county to gain employment on a farm near Zanesville.

BULLETIN

A wage increase equivalent to a minimum of $4 per week for all day and piece work employes will be given 4,800 employes of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company here, the company announced today in Pittsburgh. The wage increase will mean a payroll increase of approximately $19,200 weekly or close to $1,000,000 a year for Mansfield. The increase, which affects 24 Westinghouse plants, is subject to ratification by local plant managements and local units of the United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers.

COY NAMED

Indianan Gets Post as Head of Defense Co-ordination.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.)— President Roosevelt today placed Wayne Coy of Indiana at the head of the office of the emergency management, the super-agency which links all defense efforts with the White House.

By executive order, Mr. Roosevelt gave Coy the title of special assistant to the president and an annual salary of $9,000.

Coy, who is assistant federal security administrator, succeeds William McReynolds at the helm of OEM. Mr. Roosevelt placed Harry L. Hopkins, whom he previously designated as chief of lend-lease activities, on the federal payroll at a salary of $10,000 annually.

1,200 on Hand at Third Session of Cooking School

Stew for the working man and a modern ham and cabbage dinner cooked in 12 minutes were on the program at today's session of The Mansfield News-Journal's all-electric cooking school at the Madison theater. The largest attendance so far was reached today when 1,200 women were on hand for the program.

Demonstrating how speed and perfection in cookery can be attained by the use of the electric range, Mrs. Mabel B. Bowen, food expert, showed how it is possible to cook a dinner in minimum time with the aid of such a range and waterless utensils.

Potential homemakers from several schools swelled the audience today and learned, among other things, the methods of good cake baking advocated by Mrs. Bowen. One hundred and fifty girls from Bellville, Lucas and Lexington schools were present.

"Fine textured, fluffy cakes do not materialize from a hit and

MEASLES DEATH

Ashland Child First Victim In Richland County Area.

First death in the Richland county area attributed to the current epidemic of measles was reported today at Ashland. Wilma Lucille Richard, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Richards, 716 Sandusky street, Ashland, died early today from complications resulting from measles.

No deaths have been reported in Mansfield or Richland county. Dr. R. C. Rehder, city-county health commissioner, yesterday said that there are approximately 510 cases here. The last death in this county due to measles was reported in 1938.

Surviving the Richards child are her parents, a sister, Betty Jane; and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Richard and Mrs. W. E. Pittinger, all of Ashland.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 1:30 p. m. at the home followed by rites at the Shenandoah Christian church at 2:30 p. m. Rev. Turner Holt will be in charge of the services. Interment will be in Shenandoah cemetery.

FORCE LINES

British Report Inroad on Italian Stronghold.

NAIROBI, Kenya Colony—(AP)— A communique of the South African headquarters today said "our troops have forced the enemy's forward defenses" at Dessie, northeast of Addis Ababa, one of the last strongholds of Italian forces in Ethiopia.

SUCCESSOR HUNTED

SANDUSKY —(INS)— A successor was being sought today for Dr. James Ryan, physician at Kelley's Island in Lake Erie, following the resignation of Dr. Ryan to enter the army medical corps.

Presses Wrong Button, Fire Trucks Roar Up to School

A fire drill at Hedges school yesterday afternoon created more action and excitement than Principal Glen L. Robinson anticipated.

With all of the school's 450 pupils in the new auditorium, Robinson decided it would be an ideal time to test their speed in getting out of the building in the event of a fire.

A teacher slipped out of the room quietly to sound the drill alarm which is not connected with the line to the central fire station. By the time the pupils got outside, however, fire equipment from stations 1 and 3 roared to a stop in front of the school and firemen rushed into the building.

Robinson explained hastily that the teacher had pushed the wrong button, summoning firemen at the same time the siren sounded in the building.

Just to see if it couldn't be done right, Robinson ordered a second drill later in the afternoon. That time no firemen came.

"We got all of the 450 pupils out of the auditorium in less than a minute and a half with little confusion," Robinson said.

Over at the Newman school, Principal E. W. Kissell was fire-conscious too. Surprised members of the Newman Mothers' club joined in a drill there, dropping everything in the midst of a meeting to file out of the building with the pupils.

Firemen made another run yesterday to put out a grass fire at South park.

Warden Checks on Deaths of Dogs In Woodland Section

County Dog Warden William Miller today was investigating reports that a number of dogs have been poisoned or stricken with a strange malady in the Woodland area.

Residents of the district said at least six dogs have died and a number of others have been stricken with illness in the past few days.

One woman said the animals apparently suffer intense pain and then drop dead. Others, less seriously ill, refuse to eat and face death from starvation.

Miller said the symptoms pointed to poisoning with strychnine which causes the animals to suffer intense agony before death.

The law provides a stiff penalty for persons who use such means to destroy dogs, and we are going to investigate the reports thoroughly," Miller said.

Two of the city's leading veterinarians said they had received no calls to treat dogs in the Woodland area.

One family in the community was reported to have lost two dogs, and it was said a number of other pet owners are treating their dogs for a puzzling illness.

One dog owner expressed the belief that someone intent on destroying dogs in the community had placed poisoned meat or other food within reach of the animals.

CHAPTER I

The midsummer night was cool and mysterious under the romantic moon and stars. Beside the Morton Statling's swimming pool, tall old maples swayed in the gentle breeze as if to the intoxication rhythm of Ted Gaven's famous orchestra playing in the ballroom. It was 1 a. m. and supper was being served in the luxurious swimming lounge, gay with guests.

Raye Stone's laughter rippled over the water like the notes of an opera star's scale.

"It's perfectly ridiculous—you being here at all!" she said flippantly, giving Hal Bedford one of those sidelong, blue-eyed baby stares that made him sit up and take notice.

Raye was always attractive to men. She was twenty, beautiful and wealthy. She had always had everything she wanted and would be astonished if anyone told here she was not playing the game now.

At the moment, she wanted Hal Bedford, but she wasn't certain about taking him. That is, for life. His little mouselike wife, Ruthie, might object enough to make it decidedly uncomfortable for the other woman in the case. Hal's twins didn't matter so much, because divorce wouldn't particularly touch their three-year-old minds. Raye had come to the conclusion weeks ago.

But gossip throughout Wilville society was rife with speculation. Raye Stone, financially powerful leader of the younger set, was on the rampage again and anything could happen.

It was not that Raye intended to be cruelly flirtatious. Somehow, even those half dozen broken engagements of hers, which made her seem wholly heartless, were completely vindicated in her own mind. Her abrupt shifting from one admirer to another was inspired solely by caution. She dreaded marrying the wrong man. She had dreaded this so long, it had nearly become an obsession with her. So she warily experimented by dating one man exclusively for weeks—or at least until h ebored her—then going on to the next. She was seeking, always seeking for the one and only complement to herself, who eluded her at every turn.

Now, it happened to be Hal Bedford who was holding her interest and she was following her usual procedure. Twenty-nine-year-old Hal had social position and good looks: he was the son in Bedford & Son, millionaire brokers. Hal was charmingly sophisticated and keenly responsive to whatever frame of mind Raye happened to be in—which was more than could be said for many of his predecessors.

Life for Raye Stone was an uninterrupted round of pleasure and had been as far back as she could remember. Her responsibilities were nil. Mawson Duke, her middle-aged attorney, took care of her large income and Susan Stone, her maiden aunt, was hostess in Raye's houses in Wilville, Miami and New York. But Raye liked the Wilville house best and lived in it for months at a time.

Aunt Susan had come to live with Raye when Raye was three, immediately after her parents had been killed in an automobile smash. Her father and mother now seemed vaguely unreal to her but she often longed to have them around to untangle some of her knotty emotional problems. Sensitive, dependent Aunt Susan was so uncompromisingly strict about proprieties. She seemed to delight in failing to understand the younger generation, who openly discussed matters she had never been bold enough to put into speech.

The marriageable men that Raye had encountered in her travels all over the world with Aunt Susan had lacked some inexplicable quality of character that Raye unconsciously demanded in a husband. She often wondered if her wealth prevented her from knowing men in just the right way. They treated her like some special sort of treasure—too glorified for anything useful, too fragile to possess common sense. It was infuriating; also, discouraging.

And Hal Bedford did, now and then, let down to a certain degree of comradery. That was what had interested Raye in the first place. Now she loved him, she had been telling herself over and over again during the past few weeks.

They were sitting on a bench, oblivious of the merrily chatting party guests milling around them. The pool lights and full moon made a romantic Adonis of Hal's long slim figure in a white summer formal. Hal was so handsome—perhaps too handsome for his own good, Raye thought anxiously, her gaze resting speculatively on his dark head so thrillingly near.

"I repeat," he told her now, "I wouldn't be here tonight if it weren't for you, dear."

"Why tell little lies, darling?" Raye said edgily. "You know very well Ruthie would have dragged you out."

"Don't be like that, darling. I only want to be where you are—you know it's the truth."

Raye stirred uncomfortably. This being in love with a family man had its difficulties, to say the least. A little daring, though—and decidedly novel. This first adventure of hers with a benedict—Hal, who at the snap of her fingers would give up all matrimonial ties—might prove exciting.

But she sighed and told him, "Perhaps we're building air castles, Hal. It's so complicated—there's so much to consider. And I have to be—we both must be—absolutely certain."

He flung an arm over the back of the bench and leaned over her quickly. Had they been alone, she knew he would have taken her in his arms.

"Raye—be reasonable! Every thing's settled—I've told you repeatedly how I feel! I've been nearly crazy—mad to be with you—have lived only to see you! I've made the darndest excuses to be where you were — so we could have a few minutes together. If you'd only let me take you out more often."

Raye dropped her golden head. The hand in her lap unsteadily clutched a fold of her dubonnet lace gown.

"But there's Ruthie — there's still—Ruthie."

"Don't give it a thought—even if you two are good friends. Ruthie and I have grown apart—we've nothing now in common. She'll divorce me at the drop of the hat—be glad to."

"You haven't told her then?" Raye shivered slightly and drew her blue fox cape up around her prettily rounded shoulders.

"Well—you know how it is, darling. It's—awkward. She must have seen how it is with us. She'll bring it to a showdown soon enough. And when she does . . ."

He hesitated. Raye wondered if he felt as mean and shabby over the whole thing as she did. Ruthie had been a fairly loyal friend of hers for years.

Raye drew up impatiently. She told Hal flatly, "Yes, I know! When Ruthie gets up spunk enough to tell you a thing or two, you'll settle into harness again as meek as Moses! After all, you've been married five years. That's a lot of water under the bridge."

"See here, Raye—I've made up my mind. It's your own uncertainty that's standing between us."

"But, Hal . . ."

A waiter approached with plates of scrambled eggs and sausages, tea and coffee. Other waiters followed, offering crepes suzette, bacon, toast Melba and marmalade.

A thread of skepticism was running through Raye. She was thinking, "Hal's had two months to tell Ruthie how he feels about me. Why hasn't he done it? Oh, the whole business is shabby! If only Ruthie weren't such a dear little thing! But what can I do? I love Hal and he loves me. I love him—and I've decided to marry him."

Rex Maine, plate in hand, draged a green deck chair in front of Raye now and sat down with, "Mind if I join you? I'm lonesome."

"Oh, hello, Rex. We've missed you lately."

Raye's voice sounded like glad welcome, but she hoped Rex wasn't planning to propose to her again.

The scowling Hal removed his arm from the back of the bench.

"I don't get back to Wilville often enough since I've been writing for the movies," Rex said, his large brown eyes on Raye.

"Filthy lucre comes easy for some people," put in Hal sarcastically. "Gorgeous women, glamour—pretty swell racket."

"That's what you think! I slave, actually. Those hectic movie lots! Everybody daffy over his own career! Directors, producers, actors, writers—all trying to be tops! It gets plenty hot and complicated sometimes. And when it's boiled down, the big guy's got his way—and a man can't recognize his own brain child."

"How discouraging," Raye said, sweetly aloof and bit into a sausage.

"Hello, everybody," sang out Lidia Edison, immediately accepting the chair offered by Rex. Her green eyes were appraising him. She had been free a whole month now and gossip said that she intended to marry wealth next time.

Hal and Raye were no longer alone. "People—always people," thought the exasperated Raye. She nearly wished she didn't know so many of them. She and Hal on a deserted island! But where? Where could they go these days and not encounter acquaintances, reporters and photographers? Hal and she in the smart-set limelight, their lives open books!

Raye had no further opportunity to be alone with Hal that night. She was carried off to dance in the ballroom and, until dawn, was outwardly the Raye of old—the temperamental, ravishingly buoyant, lovely-to-look-at, g o l d e n-haired girl to whom any single man in the room would propose, if he thought he had any chance of winning her.

She had driven herself to the party tonight, thinking stubbornly that if Hal couldn't take her, no other man would, not even her chauffeur. Tonights five would-be escorts, whom she had tactfully but firmly turned down, had repeatedly danced with her but to their chagrin had not yet discovered their rival's identity.

A rare joke on them, but probably a bit foolish, Raye decided later when she slipped unnoticed from the party. It wasn't quite so funny now to be driving her canary-colored coupe on the deserted highway to Wilville this early in the morning.

She hoped to goodness she wouldn't meet a bandit or something. But the keen fresh air was like wine in her nostrils, the magnificent color display in the sky was breathtaking; even the powerful car seemed highly animated and swung obediently into seventy at the light touch of her foot on the accelerator.

Yes, it was good to be alive—alive and in a thrilling romance with the handsome Hal. Nothing mattered but Hal. He was the ideal Romeo to her Juliet—but with a happy ending.

She slid farther down in the cream leather seat, her hands on the wheel barely directing the car, its correctly balanced, heavy body holding to the paved road as securely as an engine to rails. Mastery over powerful mechanism was stimulating, she thought, her prettily rouged lips curving into a dreamy smile. Lovely morning, lovely car, lovely Hal.

The car lagged a little. The engine sputtered, coughed and died.

Raye bounced upright and pulled the emergency. She glanced apprehensively at the gas gauge. It registered zero!

She loked sharply around and immediately brightened.

The stalling directly in front of a lighted gas station was sheer luck. There wasn't a house within two miles. It wouldn't be funny to walk the highway in stilt-heeled dancing slippers.

She let off the brake and the car floated easily down the sharp inclines, stopping squarely beside a big red pump.

"Good old chariot! You're nearly human, darling!" laughed Raye.

She sounded the horn. Waited. Nothing happened.

She peered anxiously out her open window at the closed door of the gas station office and honked the horn three times more.

"Those lights—still on at daybreak! The attendant must be asleep in there," she decided, jumping out of the car.

She tried the office door but found it locked. She cupped her hands to the dusty window and peered in at a small room containing bottles, cans, tires, automobile accessories, a littered desk—and a telephone.

That phone! She had to reach the Statlings—ask them to send one of their chauffeurs with enough gas to run her home—or call her own chauffeur. A little shiver of apprehension ran through her. Evidently, she was the only human being anywhere near this deserted place.

She tried the window. But it was tightly locked.

She paused in consternation. It was then she noticed the whitewashed stones outlining the drive.

With Raye, anything could be settled with checks. This time it would have to be for a window.

She snatched up a heavy stone and swung her arm wide.

She started violently at the splintering crash of the s t o n e against the window glass. With a sigh of relief, she saw the yawning hole the stone had made. Big enough to accommodate a giant!

Quickly she gathered up her long fanlike skirts, heedless of ripping lace as the toe of one slipper touched the office floor.

Then, "Don't move! I've got you covered!" warned a firm young voice behind her.

Raye's trembling hand tightened on the narrow sill of the window she was straddling. Her blue eyes widened in fright.

"Don't shoot!" she cried frantically. "Put down that gun! I—I was only going in to phone!"

The white pajama-clad, tall young man with the tousled, towcolored hair laughed sarcastically.

"Some swell line you pull! Come on out here—pronto!"

Raye shakily complied, the sound of more ripping lace echoing behind her.

"Will you—will you put down that gun?" she begged, standing before the square-jawed young man like a lovely little elf not meant for scolding. "You see—I ran out of gas."

He suddenly smiled, showing perfect teeth.

He lowered his pistol, his keen hazel eyes fastened on the trembling Raye.

"You look too expensive not to be on the level," he finally told her. "But instead of breaking a window, why didn't you knock on my upstairs door?"

"Upstairs? I'd no idea t h e r e was one. Besides—the light . . ."

"I forgot to switch it off when I turned in. I live in the penthouse above this dump," he explained, looking slightly amused.

But it seemed he was not entirely convinced of her honesty, for he added, a little sternly, "What's the rest of your story?"

"I wanted to phone for some one to bring me gas. Of course, if I'd known you were anywhere around, I'd have . . ."

"You wouldn't have become a lawbreaker."

"Lawbreaker? But I'm not! I'll pay for the window—naturally. I'm Raye Stone. You probably know who I am."

"Never heard of you in my life! Actress?"

Raye's face burned crimson but she held her head high. She told him resentfully, "I'll thank you to fill my gas tank. It takes . . ."

"I shouldn't let you go, I guess—but you do look all right. Anyhow, there's no money in the safe."

She said curtly, "Will you please hurry? I can't stay here forever!"

He frowned, scuffed along in worn leather slippers to one of the red pumps. He took down a hose and shoved its nozzle into the tank of the yellow car.

"Pretty ritzy number—this," he commented thoughtfully. "Too bad you have to drive a r o u n d alone this early in the morning."

She was fuming with indignation. She slid into the driver's seat and slammed the door emphatically behind her.

The tall muscular young man suddenly appeared beside the car window. His face was chiseled to the pattern of a Greek god, strength in every line of it. Yet he was not handsome. Rather homely, in fact, she decided quickly.

"Shall I check the oil and water?" he asked, pleasantly enough now.

"No, thank you," she said crisply, avoiding his eyes. "How much do I . . ."

"What about your tires—like them gone over?"

"How very ambitious you are this early in the morning!" she snapped. "Will you kindly tell me how much I owe you? I'm in a hurry."

"Fifteen gallons — three dollars," he said, strictly businesslike. "And ten dollars for the window glass. A couple of drunks broke it last time—that's what it cost to replace it."

"Totaling thirteen dollars," she said, pulling the zipper on her blue silk party bag.

"That's an unlucky number for some people," he remarked.

"Nothing but foolish superstition," she rejoined, almost gayly.

THIS IS OUR ANSWER
to the question of tomorrow!

WHEN YOU BUY a can of paint—you buy something you cannot see—something that in itself has little value until it has been applied to some surface—until it has begun to do its job of protecting and beautifying your home. Because this is so—you spend your money on faith—faith in the honest quality the manufacturer has built into his paint—and that manufacturer's pride in his name and what it means to you.

Cochran Paint is good paint—we believe there is no better paint made. We are old fashioned enough to believe that an honest paint, honestly priced, will win us friends—yet we are modern enough to realize that a paint store ought to be as attractive and as convenient for you as we can possibly make it. That is why, within the past several months, we have made an investment in the future—we have created in this community one of Ohio's most beautiful and practical paint stores.

We have built a new front of gleaming white—we have lighted our store with new fluorescent lighting, we have filled this entirely new and different store with this community's most complete stocks of paints and wallpapers. All this has cost money. We, in a manner somewhat like that of a man buying a can of paint, have spent our money on faith—faith in the future of this city—faith in the fairness and friendliness of its people.

Cochran Paint asks no favors of time or weather or comparison with any other paint made. Cochran Paint asks only the opportunity to prove its worth.

STRESS PLACED ON RECREATION AT ARMY CAMP

Fort Ord, Calif., Reservation To Get $2,000,000 Play Center.

FORT ORD, Calif.—(U.P.)—Construction has been begun on a $2,000,000 recreation center for the use of an anticipated 50,000 soldiers on the Fort Ord military reservation

Described as the "most complete recreation project in the United States," the center is being built by the WPA in cooperation with army engineers.

Work on the first element — a $250,000 enlisted mens' club—was started Feb. 26 and engineers expect the building to be completed by June 30. Final engineering details for a non-commissioned officers' club of the same size and cost are now being worked out.

Other units of the projected center include:

1—A mission type chapel, with reversible altars permitting services of all faiths.

2—A library of early California type architecture.

3—Two 5,000-seat stadiums for football and baseball.

4—Two salt water swimming pools.

5—Two gymnasiums and locker rooms.

6—Handball and tennis courts; track and field layouts and other additional game areas.

Army officials have selected a site for the center overlooking Monterey Bay four miles east of Monterey, Calif., on state highway No. 1.

Plans for the privates' club include a dance hall 118 feet by 156; reading and writing rooms, and guest parlors for women.

Although the WPA is financing and constructing the center, Fort Ord soldiers are subscribing from their monthly pay to defray a $60,000 sponsors' fee.

The most important — and planned as the most beautiful— of the center's buildings is the chapel around which will revolve the spiritual life of the reservation.

Built of abode in a style suggesting the old California missions, the chapel will be the focal point of the entire project and all landscaping will tie into this one structure.

Revolving altars have been designed to permit worship in the Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths.

Follies Show at Ohio Scores Hit With Audiences

Count Berni Vici's Pan-American Follies opened to enthusiastic audiences at the Ohio theater yesterday. The two-day appearance of the Count's latest revue is embellished by an all-girl stage band, replete with Novachord and electric organ, and an array of parading girls and entertainers.

The cast of 60 includes a dancing team, an expert balancer-comedian and a trio of entertainers styled after the Ritz brothers.

South American flavor pervades the revue which is filled with colorful rumba with senoritas keeping rhythm with luminous gourds.

One of the most pretentious productions to visit a local theater lately "Pan-American Follies," brings down the curtain on a patriotic finale called "Cavalcade of the Americas."

HELD UNDER BOND

BUCYRUS — Francis Edward Cripps is in county jail under $500 bond, charged with driving an automobile without the owners' consent. He pleaded guilty to driving a car belonging to Carl M. Baehr in the court of Mayor W. M. King of Galion Tuesday.

REPORT THEFT

BUCYRUS — Ohio Power company officials reported to police Wednesday the theft of an envelope containing money from the night deposit box at the plant. The money had been mistakenly placed in the envelope compartment.

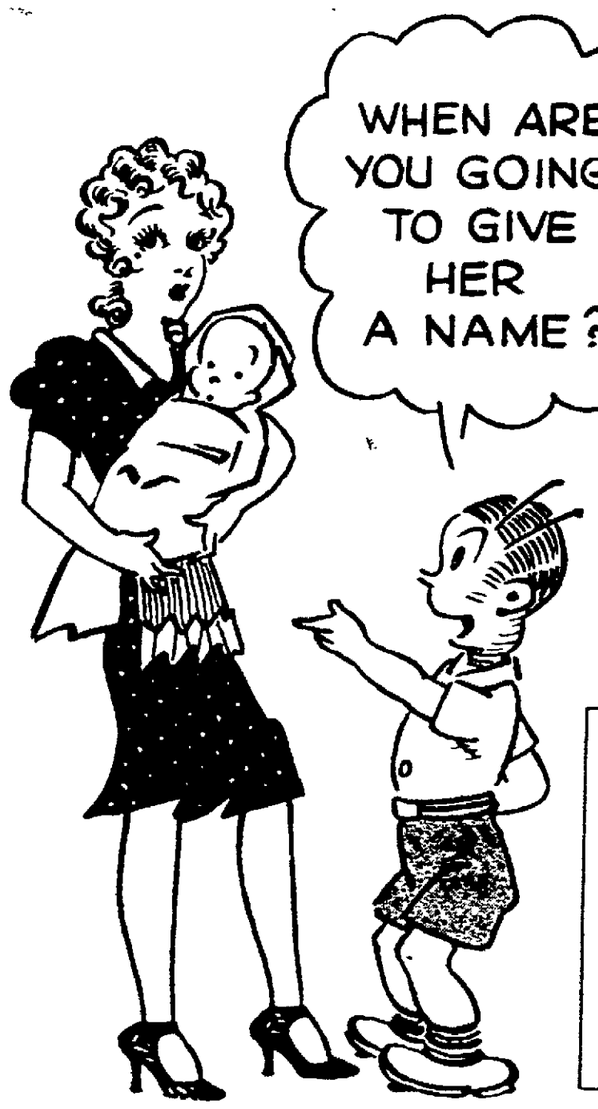
Blondie wants a name for her baby . . .



Here's Blondie's little baby daughter, almost two weeks old and no name yet!

It's so hard for Mother and Father to get together on a name — so will you help?

What name do you think is suitable for the little girl?

What would you name her if she were yours?

Just read the simple rules printed below—then send in the name. Blondie, Dagwood, and Baby Dumpling will thank you — and you may win $100

HERE ARE THE SIMPLE RULES. READ THEM CAREFULLY, PLEASE

(1)—Print or write plainly on a piece of paper your choice of a name for Blondie's baby daughter and complete this sentence. "I think this name is suitable for the baby because . . . . . ." The sentence should contain not more than 25 words.

(2)—Do not enter more than one name and one sentence in this contest.

(3)—To be eligible entries must be mailed before midnight, Wednesday, April 30, 1941, to P. O. Box 6, Grand Central Annex, New York City.

(4)—Neatness, suitability and originality of thought and expression, as well as the name, will be the determining factors in awarding the prize of $100.

(5)—Any resident of the United States or Canada may compete, with the exception of employees of this paper or members of their families.

(6)—The prize will be awarded as soon after April 30th as the judging has been finished. Duplicate prizes will be awarded in case of ties. The decision of the judges is final. The judges are Clive Young, Beatrice Fairfax, Inez Robb and Dr. A. R. Dafoe.

Sport Podge

by REX HESS

Batterymen of the Mansfield Braves unlimber their salary wings for the first time today at the fairgrounds (I hope there's no rain to spoil this line) and the 1941 diamond season for Mansfield is finally under way.

Rookies were ever referred to as "promising" and the word isn't overplayed, I'm told, when you tag it on the crop of rooks reporting today to Manager Alex Clowson.

Some of the best of Cleveland's sandlot youngsters were recommended to the Braves by the Indian scouting staff, and are included in the gang of nearly 40 ball players who'll be working out here this week.

The Tribe's scouting staff won't be content to let the boys come down here and then get lost in the shuffle. Buzz Wetzel, chief of the Indian farm system, and Bill Bradley, scouting ace and old third baseman of the Naps, will be among the scouts visiting Mansfield in the next two weeks to see how the youngsters are getting on this spring.

Diamond and Kitchen hear this chatter,
"What's the matter with the batter?"
I'm the season's finest rookie,
Step right up and call me cookie.

"I gotta nice letter from Walt Missler," says Braves' Prexy George Satterlee, "but he's still a holdout.

"The Braves' catcher writes from Toledo that his father was injured seriously in a fall this winter, and that Walt wouldn't be able to report now, signed or unsigned.

"But he wants $100 a month with board or $125 a month without board, and on a $1,200 dollar monthly salary limit for a squad of 14 players, including playing manager, we couldn't pay that kind of dough."

Coach Paul Brown's Buckeyes will close their spring training with a regulation game May 10 with the annual intra-squad melee preceding a clinic for Ohio high school coaches.

I'm told at least 100 Mansfielders will be in the stadium stands to see the spring grid tilt. The Liederkranz club is getting together that big a party to see their boy Johnny Hallabrin perform.

Tygers Defeat Garfield

Tracksters Score 68-50 Win Over Akron Team.

SHOWING strength in the distance events and relays, Mansfield High tracksters convincingly defeated Akron Garfield in a dual meet at Stadium field yesterday afternoon 68-50.

Coach Harry Mehock's 120-high hurdlers started the Tygers off on the right track when they swept that event with Butterfield, Shiplet and Atwater finishing one-two-three.

Don Hipp supplied the distance power, taking the mile run in 4:57.4 and the 880 in 2:11.8.

Elroy 'Lightnin' Jones transferred his lightning to the field events, and gave the Tygers a first in the shot putt at 42 feet, 8 inches, and in the broad jump at 18 feet, 6 inches.

However, Pringle of Garfield, was the outstanding athlete of the meet. After leaping an even six feet in the Mansfield Relays last Saturday, he was forced to go only five feet, 10 inches to capture the high jump yesterday

Pringle also took the 220 yard low hurdles in 27.7, and tied with Robertson of Mansfield in the pole vault at 10 feet, 3 inches.

Mansfield clinched the meet in the two relay events. Witchey, Becker, Kinkel and Palmer captured the 880 relay in 1:41.2; and Burrage, Nameth, Herrick and Woodbury took the mile relay in 3:46.6.

* * *

Louie Nameth just about decided the mile relay all by himself. Faced with a 10-yard handicap at the start of the second heat, Nameth overtook his opponent on the back stretch and piled up a 20-yard lead, which Herrick and Woodbury stretched into 30 yards at the finish.

ASHLAND BEATS B. G.

BOWLING GREEN—(INS)—Ashland college today held an Ohio conference baseball victory over Bowling Green, gained yesterday by an 11 to 9 count.

Reiser Beaned By Pearson

BOWLING SCORES

Pins were popping all over the place last night as A league bowlers found the range for a splurge of 600 scores.

Rolling the most consistently good series of the evening, Art Thomas mauled the maples for 232-222-226—670 to grab top honors.

Orlie Grable was right in there with 222-220-206—648, and Joe Harrod nicked the wood for 232-213-179—624. Ferrell Hipp collected 224-205-192—621

Other 600 scores included: Winnie Cleckner, 214-204-201—619; Walt Fensch 183-214-215—612; Art Hilborn 157-227-221 — 605; and Babe Meder 184-193-224—601.

Orange St. Cafe piled up a total of 3,076 Starting out with 990 they jumped to 1044 in the second game, and then dropped off only two pins to 1042 in the final session.

Hecht & Casey showed the way in the C league with a 2524 total on games of 798-896-830. Earl Metcalf had high individual score with 150-206-204—560.

Dominion Electric and Ritz Nite club will roll their match Monday night. The C league banquet has been scheduled at the Liederkranz club May 6 at 6:30.

Class Begins To Tell

Reds, Tribe Move Up In Race; Reiser Beaned.

By JUDSON BAILEY
(AP Sports Writer)

THE big trains are getting the right of way now on baseball's main line after a little more than a week of confusion.

The world champion Cincinnati Reds, with the best pitching staff in the major leagues, have just won two shutouts from the Chicago Cubs. The St Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn Dodgers are making their moves at the same time.

The Cleveland Indians have squeezed into a tie for the American league lead. The New York Yankees are climbing up and the Boston Red Sox are sliding down.

Thus without any particular fanfare the races in the two big leagues are settling down for their long summer's grind in just about the fashion everyone expected.

Bucky Walters pitched the Reds to their fourth straight triumph yesterday with a five-hit 5-0 conquest of the Cubs

The New York Giants still are setting the pace in the national league, but with a faltering gait that may give way at any moment. They edged out the Boston Bees 5-4 yesterday by means of a four-run rally in the sixth inning However, the tip-off is that they have used 23 pitchers in nine games.

The Brooklyn Dodgers prastered a 4-0 shutout on the Phillies with Whitlow Wyatt scattering four hits, never closer than one every other inning In his previous start he had held the Bees to three safeties and apparently he is sighted for a big season The Dodgers suffered a handicap when Young Pete Reiser was hit on the right cheek by a ball pitched by Ike Pearson, but X-rays showed no bones were broken and he may be back in the lineup by the time the club has to defend itself against the western invasion next week.

The St. Louis Cardinals penned the Pittsburgh Pirates again 3-1 on the three-hit pitching gem of Sam Nahem, who was the "sleeper" in last year's trade that sent Joe Medwick to the Dodgers The only run against the young lawyer was unearned, coming on two errors in the eighth inning after the Cards had completed their scoring

Cleveland cooked up a four-run inning to help Bob Feller get a 5-2 decision over the St Louis Browns

At the same time the Yankees handed the Red Sox their third straight defeat 4-2 on Phil Rizzuto's homer with one on in the 11th inning. Up till then the game was a tight hurling duel between Vernon Gomez, the old lefthander, and Charley Wagner, Boston rookie.

Hal Newhouser, who kept the Detroit Tigers in striking position through the early months of last summer, pitched eight-hit ball while his teammates found their batting eye and crushed the Chicago White Sox 13-5.

The hard-hitting Philadelphia Athletics crammed nine runs into one inning for an 11-7 triumph over the Washington Senators, who made a dozen hits themselves but committed five errors. The A's 15-hit offensive included two homers by Catcher Frankie Hayes, one with the bases loaded.

HANK GREENBERG TO REPORT FOR ARMY

DETROIT —(AP)— The American league's reputedly highest paid player at $50,000 a year has only 13 playing days left this season with Detroit.

Local draft board No. 23 notified Hank Greenberg to report for induction May 7 at the induction center here.

Sports Night Program Held

Boxing and Other Titles Decided at Appleseed.

Championship boxing bouts in three classes high-lighted the first of Johnny Appleseed junior high school's final intra-mural sports nights at the school gym last night. A crowd of 500 witnessed the events.

Lee Morehead decisioned Richard Davis for the 145 pound title, Paul Pfahler won from Fred Urschel for the 130 pound crown, and Wayne Miller took the 85 pound championship with a win over Richard Gassaway.

Championships in other classes will be decided tomorrow night when the final sports night program is presented Junior Devore meets Chester Miller for the 115 pound diadem in the feature clash.

Eighth grade all-stars won from the home room champions 18-16 in the featured basketball till last night, and seventh grade all stars defeated the seventh grade home room title holders 9-8.

Pingpong championships were won by Herbert Browarsky over Lee Morehead for the eighth grade crown, and by Robert Hale over William Roush for the school title. Phillip Buckwort defeated David Fay for the seventh grade championship.

Hugh Eierly captured the school badminton title by defeating Pete Wappner. Margaret Walery won the girl's badminton championship.

Seventh grade defeated eighth in Chinese soccer and ninth grade won from eighth in volleyball

Proceeds from last night's and tomorrow nights programs will be used to purchase equipment for intra-mural sports.

WESTINGHOUSE HAS TELEGRAPH JOUST

Westinghouse keglers will participate in a telegraphic tournament tonight at Meder's at 8.30 in which 12 other plants will compete. A $50 prize will go to the winning team.

Bowlers who will perform tonight for Westinghouse are Walter Fensch, Carl Phillipon, O., Grable, H Heiser, Jack Hamraham, and Fritz Vogel.

Brown Sold

MACE BROWN

Brooklyn's Dodgers get Mace Brown, veteran relief pitcher, from the Pittsburgh Pirates in a straight cash deal The sale price was not disclosed Brown won 10 games and lost nine last year.

Gridders Trounce Redskins

Tygers Run Up 18 to 0 Score at Coshocton.

COACH PAUL SNYDER'S Mansfield Tyger gridmen turned in their second impressive win of the spring practice season yesterday at Coshocton, 18 to 0.

Played in the rain and on a muddy field, the practice tilt gave the Tygers a taste of the kind of weather that may be expected some night next fall.

Coshocton, according to Snyder, was in much better condition than the Toledo Waite eleven that practiced against the Tygers here last Monday, and the hard-hitting Redskins gave Mansfield a real workout.

With the exception of elimination of kick-offs and points after touchdown, it was a regulation game instead of the purely practice affair Waite demanded. Play was started on the 20 yard lines at the beginning of the halves and after Mansfield touchdowns.

Alert football accounted for two Tyger tallies. Joe Romano intercepted a Coshocton pass and raced 20 yards for one touchdown, and Windy Winbigler flagged another Redskin aerial and trekked 40 yards for a six-point marker.

Krupp, on a reverse, went five yards for the final touchdown.

Mansfield's line was the same as that which faced Waite last week but the backfield, due to loss for one day of some members to the track team was made up of Brandt, Condon, Doolittle and Butler.

The Tygers will have at least one more practice game, Coach Snyder said today. An effort is being made to bring Columbus North here next week, and if that fails there will be an alumni game under the lights.

Gee-Man Walker Clouts

Smacks Two Triples and Double For Indians.

CHICAGO —(AP)— One game is pretty thin evidence, but it looks like Gerald Holmes Walker has started to hit.

Cleveland's new left fielder drove two scorching triples and a classy double off St. Louis pitching yesterday to lead the Indians to a 5 to 2 victory. Gerry was meeting the ball as he did in his slugging years with the Detroit Tigers and now has four triples for the season.

Thornton Lee was the White Sox nominee to silence Walker's booming bat today. Cleveland named Al Smith, who beat Chicago 2 to 0 a week ago, to pitch.

Bob Feller stopped the Browns in a game which lifted the Tribe into a first-place tie with Boston. The fireballer walked seven and allowed eight hits but hurled steady ball in the pinches and 12 St. Louis runners were left stranded.

The Indians sewed up the verdict with a four-run attack against knuckle-baller Johnny Niggeling in the fifth inning. Doubles by Ray Mack and Rollie Hemsley, singles by Russ Peters and Roy Weatherly and Walker's second triple brought in the tallies.

Walker scored the previous inning when he doubled and raced all the way home on poor throws by Roy Cullenbine and Johnny Berardino.

St. Louis scored one run in the second on two walks and Niggeling's single and another in the seventh on doubles by Cullenbine and George McQuinn.

The Cleveland roster was cut to 27 with the optioning of Mike Naymick, rookie right-handed pitcher, to Indianapolis of the American Association. Another pitcher and an outfielder are due to go before the May 15 deadline.

NO THREATS GIVEN LEADERS IN A. B. C.

ST. PAUL—(INS)—Low scores left the leaders in all divisions undisturbed today at the American Bowling congress, pending a new invasion of "hot shots" this week-end. Highest team score yesterday was registered by the Cline Coffee Shop five of Salem, Ore., which counted 3,003 for eighth place in the team event.

Burnison Gets Massillon Job

Galion Man Named Coach Of Junior High School.

GALION—Galion friends of John F. Burnison of 345 Cherry street were pleased to learn, Wednesday, that he has been employed as head coach at Edmund A. Jones junior high school in Massillon.

Burnison, who for the past year has been employed by local contractors, was head coach at Galion high school when 1938 football team won the N. C. O. league co-championship with Shelby.

Burnison began his duties as head football and basketball coach at the Massillon school on Monday of this week, it was learned here Wednesday. He succeeds Howard Brinker who goes to Steubenville Wells high school with Melvin Knowlton. Brinker was assistant to Knowlton at Jones junior high until Coach Brown went to Ohio State university.

Burnison was graduated from Galion high school in 1928. He attended Heidelberg college for two years, and in 1935 was graduated from Ohio university.

He was hired as an instructor and assistant coach at Galion in 1935 under Athletic Director Fred McClintock and Coach Robert Corry.

Later he was assistant under Corry, until 1937, assisting with football and coaching basketball, from 1937 to 1939. He was head football coach in 1938 and 1939, being athletic director the latter year.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Deak Morse, St. Johnsbury (Vt.) Caledonian-Record: "The Boston story:
"Bees syndicated.
"Cronin vindicated."

Cronin Hopes For Base Hits

Joe Still Plays Short at 35 Years of Age.

NEW YORK —(INS)— Old Joe Cronin, some of them call him because he is crowding 35 now and has been in baseball livery at one place or another for 16 years, but look who is still playing shortstop for the Boston Red Sox and look at his batting average of .419.

That figure will dwindle before the season is done and he positively can't go on shortstopping forever either, yet the Sox are tied for the American league lead and a good part of their early season success is traceable to the way their pilot is massaging the pitching.

Where will the Sox finish, now that they have started so well? Cronin said he didn't know any more about their chances in the American league race today than he did in spring training, and if anything he was a little more confused than ever.

"We ought to hit," Cronin said and immediately received unanimous agreement because the Sox are a hitting club. "But we're not going too good due to the fact that we have trouble getting pitching and hitting at the same time, or so it seems."

Cobb Confident He'll Beat Babe

LOS ALTOS, Cal. —(INS)— Ty Cobb, one of baseball's immortals, was at his Los Altos home today brimming over with confidence for his coming golf match with Babe Ruth in June for the benefit of British war relief.

Cobb said he would meet the "Bambino" anywhere and laid out a daily schedule of practice rounds for the event.

"Beat him? Why sure," Cobb said. "Accuracy will do it—iron shots straight to the pin and one putt greens."

The hefty southpaw said he hoped to play on narrow fairways because "I can hear the Babe hollering in the woods now after a wild drive."

Ashland Defeats Galion In Track

Ashland High defeated Galion 93 to 25 in its opening track meet of the season, held yesterday at Ashland. Galion won only three firsts taking both hurdles and the broad jump.

For the pole vault, McMurry, Risser, and Maurer, all of Ashland tied for first with a height of 9 ft 3 in.

The boys that took firsts for Galion were Kleinknecht, 120 high hurdles, and 220 yard hurdles, and McFarland who took the broad jump.

Redlegs Given Test

Cards Attempt To Halt 4-Game Win Streak.

ST. LOUIS —(AP)—Today provides the test for the Cincinnati Reds, who have risen from a flat zero-zero-zero standing to half perfect in the short space of four games.

Today they meet the St. Louis Cardinals, the team that set them up to three of their four losses, and by nightfall it should be possible to determine whether the Reds' current four-game winning streak is the stuff or just a little bounce.

Paul Derringer, who was treated pretty badly by these Cards in the opener at Cincinnati, is the Reds' choice for victory against Fiddler Bill McGee, who lost three out of seven starts against the Reds in 1940.

If yesterday's performance by Bucky Walters, a five-hit shutout of the Cubs in Chicago for the second consecutive whitewash, means anything, the Reds' bad start was only that.

For the Reds made five runs for him and fielded like demons. Ival Goodman, star right fielder who has been making trips to the shelf and back ever since injuring his arm in the 1939 all-star game in Cincinnati, ran his 1941 batting average up to .421 with three for five.

Stan Hack, the Cubs' slugging third baseman, did most of the work for his team, getting a pair of singles. Everybody but Bill Werber and Walters himself got at least one hit for the Reds' total of ten.

MIKE NAYMICK SENT TO INDIANAPOLIS

CHICAGO —(INS)— The Indians' squad today was within two of the 25-player limit with the release of Pitcher Mike Naymick to Indianapolis on a 24-hour recall option.

The 6-foot, 4-inch right-hander from Weirton, W. Va., has had little opportunity to work this spring because of a charley horse and injured wrist.

Reiser Stays In Hospital

Injured Dodger Player Has Mild Concussion.

NEW YORK —(INS)— Pete Reiser, Brooklyn Dodgers' star outfielder, who was knocked unconscious when struck in the head by a ball in yesterday's game with the Phillies, will be kept in Caledonia hospital for several days under observation, Dr. D. A. McAteer, jr., said today.

"Reiser has a mild concussion and localized blood clot," Dr. McAteer declared. "He's a very lucky boy, because he certainly would have had a fractured skull but for his helmet, which absorbed part of the shock.

"He'll remain under observation for two or three more days, but if no complications develop, he ought to be playing again in a week at the most."

The 22-year-old player, who has compiled a .355 batting average in the first eight games, was hit in the third inning by a speedy sidearm pitch from Ike Pearson. The ball struck on the right cheekbone, just under the temple. A metal helmet, worn under the cap of all Dodger players, deflected the blow.

KANE ENTERS ARMY

CHICAGO — (INS) — Campbell Kane, sensational Indiana university distance runner, has passed his examination for admission into the naval reserve air cadet corps, it was announced today at the Great Lakes naval training station. Kane will enter training at the close of the school term in June.

Brewers Belt Bird Hurlers

(By Associated Press)

Pitchers traditionally are supposed to be "ahead" of hitters when the baseball season starts, but you would never know it from a study of yesterday's American association box scores.

Milwaukee, opening up after a poor start in the first week, shellacked four Columbus pitchers for 19 hits and a 15 to 7 victory. The Brewers used three pitchers.

Nine hurlers took a turn on the mound in St. Paul's 7 to 5 victory over Indianapolis. Each team got only 10 hits but the pitchers wore a path to the hill, five Indians trying vainly to stop the Saints who built up a 7-1 lead in five frames.

Kansas City began climbing up with a 5 to 4 margin over Toledo. The Minneapolis-Louisville game was rained out.

LEGAL NOTICE

Rosella Zudwitz, Katherine E. Waite, Robert R. Roberts, Maude Craig, Reed Walker, Ruth E. Smith, Hermine A. Klein, Josephine Lavan Frantz, and Nettie M. Swisher and the unknown heirs and devisees of each of them will take notice that Samuel Frankel and Ada Frankel have filed their petition in the Common Pleas Court of Richland County, Ohio, in Case No. 25736 against the above named parties and others praying for a declaratory judgment barring action because of construction on, and use of Lots No. 7580 and No. 7581 and equitable relief, and that unless they answer by June 7, 1941, the prayer of the petition will be granted.

THOMAS J. McDERMOTT, Attorney for Plaintiffs.

Spring Clothes and a Balanced Budget on $50...

... how to get a Kick out of Kash ...

A YOUNG BOOKKEEPER wanted a new spring outfit, but she still owed a few winter bills. A $50 "Jitney Loan" paid the bills and bought a snappy suit, hat, and shoes at greatly reduced bargain prices. Her loan was paid in full in two months at a total cost of $1.20.

Hundreds of working men and women use this low cost cash service for many personal needs. You can too. Amounts $10 to $1000.

LOANS $10 TO $1000

"It's easy for anyone to get a Jitney Loan. Help yourself." (Manager's Name)

HOW MUCH IS READY MONEY WORTH?

$100 repayable in regular monthly payments for one year costs less than the price of a pack of gum a day.

$300 repayable in regular monthly payments for 18 months costs less than cigarettes at a pack a day. Fair enough!

JUST KIDS By Ad Carter

THERE I WAS WITH MY NEW COAT OFF AND AN APRON ON AND NOT A SPOON OR FORK IN THE KITCHEN LEFT TO PREPARED
NO!
NO JEEVES WAS STUMPED SO
HOW DID HE HANDLE THE SITUATION?
HE DIDN'T— MRS JEEVES HANDLED IT AND HOW DID SHE DO IT?
SHE SAID THE ONLY THING FOR ME TO DO WAS TO EAT SOME CHOCOLATE PUDDING AND TWO PIECES OF STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE SO I COULD GET A SPOON AN FORK DIRTY SO I COULD WASH AN DRY THEM—WHICH I DID YES, YES, OF COURSE!

What?
Not Going In the Movies!

"You'd think," said one of our many old customers, the other day, "that your used cars were going into the movies. Every one of 'em is all spruced up like a movie queen!"

We'd never thought of it just that way before. But now that it's mentioned, we do put a lot of time and attention on the conditioning of every used car we offer for sale.

When you buy a used car from us you can count on this: It's had an inspection that's more complete than an army sergeant gives a new recruit the first time he's in uniform. Then we go to work and do what it takes to make the car sweet-running and sweet-looking.

Please feel free to inspect any of 'em from top to bottom—from bumper to bumper. Maybe your eyes are better than ours.

You're welcome to take any of 'em out for a spin, too. Why not do that?

SIGHT RESTORED AFTER 50 YEARS

AUGUSTA, Ga.—(UP)—A delicate operation has enabled J. A. Evans, of Crawfordville, Ga., to regain use of an eye in which sight was lost 50 years ago.

A flying wood chip cost Evans use of the eye. He had long ago abandoned hope of having its sight restored. But when he went to Dr. Wade Bedingfield, Augusta specialist, to have his good eye treated, the doctor also performed an operation on the blind eye.

Evans can now see well enough to read a newspaper with the long-useless eye.

MART ACTING TIRED AFTER SHORT RALLY

Steels and Motors Hesitant as Brokers See Industrial Speed-Up In Report.

NEW YORK—Stocks acted a bit tired in today's market after their rallying bulge of the preceding session.

Meeting support at the start were Bethlehem Steel, Republic Steel, Chesapeake & Ohio, American Telephone, Anaconda, International Harvester and Westinghouse.

Hesitancy was displayed by U. S. Steel, Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, Chrysler, N. Y. Central and General Electric.

Commodities were uneven.

Brokerage commentators saw further evidence of the industrial speed-up in the Dun & Bradstreet summary of the country's bank clearings for the week ended yesterday. In some centers gains in this item over a year ago amounted to as much as 50 per cent.

A substantial upturn in heavy construction awards for the week ended Tuesday was seen as a market prop.

First Candidates Takes Out Petition For City Office

The first candidate for a Mansfield municipal office in the 1941 election, Paul W. Bush, 51 State street, was circulating his nominating petition today.

Bush, who is employed by W. E. Jones Piano house, is seeking the Republican nomination for city council in the Sixth ward, the office now held by Arthur L. Croak.

With Bush breaking the ice in the summer municipal campaign, board of election officials expect to have a number of requests for petitions within the next few weeks.

To qualify for a place on the primary ballot, candidates must file their petitions with the electionboard by June 13. The primary will be Aug. 12.

Every city office except auditor will be voted on this year. Offices to be filled in November include mayor, nine councilmen, treasurer and solicitor.

Voters in the fall also will ballot on township trustees and clerks, board of education members, and village officials. Only the candidates for Mansfield city offices, however, must compete in the August primary. Others will be nominated by petitions which must be filed in September, Philip Wolfe, clerk of the election board, said today.

Piqua Man Unable To Express Enough Appreciation To Bee Bee's

Declares the Great Root and Herb Diuretic, Bee Bee's Relieved Prostatitis, Kidney Trouble, Inflammation of Bladder, Aches and Pains.

Following is what one of the thousands of users has to say about the wonderful relief Bee Bee's has given.

Mr. George J. Rust, 73 years of age, of 644 Roosevelt Ave., Piqua, Ohio, says: "I have been bothered for 15 years with kidney trouble.

"My kidneys were in such a terrible condition that I would have to get up three or four times during the night, also caused me to have such terrible pains and soreness in my back, legs and knees. My joints were stiff and swollen and bothered my sleep. I also was bothered with dizziness and headaches.

"I read about Bee Bee's and thought I would try this highly recommended medicine. This medicine left me so I only have a memory of my troubles. I took three bottles of Bee Bee's and now all my above troubles are relieved. I will praise Bee Bee's to my friends and will continue to take a few more bottles."

$107,820 GIVEN SUBDIVISIONS IN LICENSE FEES

Richland County Receives $81,507, Mansfield $20,775 and Shelby $3,250.

Richland county and its cities and villages today received $107,820 as their first allocation of automobile license fees for the year to help them repair winter damage to their roads and streets.

The county will receive $81,507 for the largest share, while Mansfield will get $20,775 and Shelby, $3,250.

Allocations to villages will include Bellville, $625; Butler, $287.50; Lexington, $337.50; Lucas, $275; Pymouth, $425; Shiloh, $262.50, and South Boulevards, $75.

County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe said a total of $149,000 has been collected so far this year from the sale of license plates in the county. The state, however, received 23 per cent of the receipts and five per cent went into an equalization fund which will be distributed equally to the 88 counties.

It is expected that other distributions will be made throughout the year as more auto and truck licenses are sold. The money must be used for road and street repairs and maintenance.

The funds will help the county and Mansfield to step up their spring and summer repairing of heavy damage to roads and streets during the winter

SCIENCE PROVES WOMEN COLDER

KANSAS CITY, Mo. —(U.P.)—Science has proved a fact which men have suspected for a long time—that women like the room temperature considerably higher than is comfortable for the men.

F. C. Houghton, director of the American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers' research laboratory, spent a year recording the reactions of persons under different temperature and heating conditions to prove the contention.

The reason, he said, is obvious. Women just don't wear as many clothes.

Each U. S. military truck, scout car or other vehicle contains about 40 distinct raw materials.

Rationing Ends Where 'Black Bourse' Begins

Germans, Tradespeople Carry on Big Undercover Business at High Prices In Occupied France.

(Editor's Note: How the illegal "black bourse" operates in occupied France is described today in the eighth of a series of articles by Kenneth Downs, ace International News Service foreign correspondent, who has just made a secret visit to Paris.)

* * * * *

By KENNETH DOWNS
INS Staff Correspondent.

LISBON—(INS)—I asked a barman I knew in Paris if he could get me a Havana cigar. He just laughed, I insisted. Finally he said:

"Well, I'll try, but it will cost you plenty if I am able to find one at all."

He whispered instructions to a chasseur who disappeared for about 90 minutes. He came back with the cigar. The bill was 150 francs (about $3.50).

You can still get almost anything in France if you are able to pay the price to the black bourse.

The black bourse has become a great business in France. Thousands of people make their livelihood at the illegal business of selling everything from money to soap and clothing at unofficial prices and without requiring tickets. A few big operators, mostly Germans, have made fortunes. But the vast majority of people engaged in this traffic are little people, waiters out of work, housewives, and former clerks, who just make a living. They risk up to three years imprisonment if caught.

I found a restaurant I used to know on the left bank is now virtually a headquarters of small-time black bourse operators. There I found two waiters, a mannequin and a girl who used to work in a hat shop all making their living in this way. The former mannequin said:

"I have done better at this than I did in the shop before the war. I made a thousand francs just this afternoon over an apertif arranging a contact between a man who wanted a large quantity of yarn and a man who had it. It's getting more difficult now, though, because it is getting harder all the time to find things."

She said that the biggest operators on the black bourse were German civilians.

"They buy up everything and they don't care what they pay," she said. "I don't know what they are doing with it, but I think they are sending it into Germany. They buy clothing materials in any quantity; you can't get enough for them. It's easy working for them, because they furnish you with cars and you are never stopped and searched when you are in a German car. I have been all over the north of France with our little collaborators, buying out stocks of wool, soap, stockings, oil, everything you can think of."

She said gasoline was one of her steady sources of income. Gasoline rations are extremely low, usually not more than five to ten gallons a month except for important officials. But she said she is able to get any amount she wants from German army groups who peddle their army gas at 20 francs a liter (around $2 per gallon.)

She wrote out a list of articles giving their normal prices as compared to current black bourse prices. They are (in large lots);

Soap 60 francs per kilogram on the black bourse against 15 francs legal price; cooking oil, 80 francs a liter against 12; coffee, 60 francs per kilogram against 16; eggs, five francs each against 1.75 francs; beans, 15 francs per kilo against 6; chickens, 100 apiece against 35; rabbits, 80 apiece, against 28; pernod, 80 per bottle, against 35; knitting wool, 217 per kilo, against 90; woolen cloth, 400 per meter against 80; silk stockings 95 against 35; cigarettes, 25 against 9; gasoline, 20 per liter against 8.

I asked her how she liked this work.

"Pouf. I don't like it, and I don't think old Grandpa down in Vichy would like it," she said. "But one must live."

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, APRIL 24, 1941.

April almost over and still we're not in the war—or are we?

At last reports the meek had become much less interested in inheriting the earth.

Washington, D. C., is becoming so crowded that people without business there are being urged to keep away—which will probably increase the influx of people without business there.

Fire Prevention Becomes Localized

SUCH a meeting as that held yesterday, when two hundred and fifty Mansfield men and Boy Scouts gathered to hear a talk on fire prevention, serves to give added emphasis to the need for constant vigilance in guarding against fires and also to the importance of providing and maintaining adequate fire-fighting facilities in all cities and rural districts.

Richard E. Vernor, of Chicago, fire prevention manager of the Western Actuarial bureau, predicted—on the basis of past records—that 300,000 homes in the United States would be visited by fires during this year and that 10,000 lives would be lost, of which 3,500 would be in rural sections.

Estimating the annual fire loss at $84,000,000, he pointed out that indirect losses from fires were much greater than the actual property destruction, and cited instances of long-time loss of wages because of factory fires.

In association with the national defense program, Mr. Vernor noted that total fire losses in the United States last year would have purchased 45 cruisers for the navy and that losses in three such years would have paid for the entire maintenance of the navy last year.

The condition of Mansfield's fire department equipment, as revealed at two fires within forty-eight hours, is such that there should be no further procrastination in handling the vitally important matter of replacement. The danger is so general, and potential losses are so widespread, that this becomes a problem, and responsibility of every citizen of Mansfield.

Movies To Portray Real America

SOME people shudder at thought of the impression of this country which foreigners must get from Hollywood movies. Sometimes, too, governments of other countries protest against the misrepresentation of their own people.

Such complaints and fears will not be aroused by the movies now being prepared by a branch of the National Defense Council having the cumbersome name of Motion Picture Division of the Committee to Improve Cultural and Commercial Relations Between the Americas. Experts are studying thousands of feet of film already in existence, from which informative one and two-reel movies will be pieced together. There will be pictures about this country, for Latin-American showing, and pictures about our neighbors for showing in the United States.

In addition, camera expeditions will soon be sent out to make non-theatrical films for the same purpose. They will deal with a variety of subjects—inter-American commerce, arts, education, sports, travel, anything having value as information or entertainment. These, too, will be designed to help the people of all the Americas to get acquainted with each other.

Achievements of Mature Years

EMPLOYERS determined to make this "a young man's world" should think at least twice before cutting themselves off from the skills, experience and loyalty of "older" workers of 40 years or more. A list of men whose greatest achievements came after that age is impressive. Here are a few called to mind by a thoughtful newspaper writer.

Galileo worked out the application of the pendulum to clocks when he was 73 years old and blind. Pasteur was 58 when he began the study of hydrophobia and 63 when he initiated the practice of inoculation for the direase. Roentgen discovered the X-rays when he was 50. Morse exhibited his first telegraph to a few friends at 46. Faraday did most of his work between 40 and 60. Edison was still conducting experiments and perfecting inventions in his 80's. Darwin published his "Origin of Species" at 50. Benjamin Franklin was a useful ambassador to France at 71 and a valued member of the constitutional convention at 81.

In science, in letters, in music, in religion, in statesmanship, in war, men of mature years have been of inestimable service to civilization.

Heritage of Self Expression

REPRESENTATIVE government is slow to bring about drastic changes in the habits of the people, because a majority of the people have to be convinced of the merits and the feasibility of any change. When a pressure group uses the government as a weapon to force special or class legislation, basic liberties of the people are always endangered.

Representative government regulates business practices in the public interest, but does not seek ownership of private property. When private enterprise has to be corrected, government, through its power to regulate, can adjust unfair practices. It does not need to take the high road toward socialism as a remedy, thus destroying fundamental rights.

When a country that boasts of being a democracy, substitutes government ownership of private enterprise in lieu of reasonable regulation, the citizens living in that country will see the gradual destruction of free institutions. And they will find themselves living under a government which will slowly take away fundamental rights that govern their everyday living.

Boston's Sensible Decision

BOSTON, apparently, can "take it." At any rate, readers there have been standing in line, figuratively speaking, to get their copies of "H. M. Pulham, Esquire," the latest book by John P. Marquand.

The book, it appears, satirizes some of the contemporary Bostonian's weaknesses. A member of city council was so shocked at this attitude that there was a move to have the book banned. Most people did not agree with the councilman, so the ban was prevented and reading was allowed to follow its normal course.

Now Bostonians can study the book with undiverted attention, and judge it for themselves.

Whether it is "lease-lend" or "lend-lease," taxpayers will feel the same effects.

LOOKS LIKE A TOUGH SPRING

Listen World!

Use Your Imagination

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

YOU wouldn't willingly permit your arm to be bandaged until it rotted or withered. Nor would you allow a healthy leg to be wantonly amputated. Least of all, would you let your eyes be blinded.

Yet you possess an organ infinitely more valuable and powerful than leg or arm or eye—an organ which might change your whole life for you. Yet you let it lie idle or wither through neglect.

I am talking about your IMAGINATION.

"But Imagination, that's just the ability to make believe," you say. "Imagination won't get you anywhere—"

"You're wrong! Imagination can yank you out of any hell—lift you up to any heaven—set you firm on any throne—and open your heart and mine to all the wisdom and wonder and beauty in the universe.

Knowledge is a good thing. Industry is a good thing. But Imagination is a magic thing—a miracle worker.

Did you ever read Bernard Shaw's play, "Saint Joan"? There she was, this husky, 17-year-old girl, come from Domremy to save her nation's king — demanding that Robert Daudricourt give her horse and armor — quoting her "voices" as divine backing.

There she stood, a child—so ignorant she could neither read nor write—unsure of her own age and surname. But she was sure that God spoke in those "voices" and she had no doubt as to how her orders came.

"They came from God," said Joan.

"They come from your imagination," stormed Robert Daudricourt.

"Of course. That is how the messages of God come to us," calmly answered Joan of Arc.

That is how God's messages come. Not through the flesh. Not from the written page. But through your own Imagination—through that ability which the Imagination gives you to project yourself into other lives, to suffer and rejoice, toil and rebel with other spirits, to go upon crusades and adventures where your mortal feet may never follow.

Nothing on earth can ever bind a man who has developed his imagination.

Nothing on earth can ever free the man who hasn't.

Often you rebel against your life. Cry out that it's too narrow. Pity yourself for your colorless destiny. Often you envy those who seem lifted to more glorious heights.

But you have the power within you to lift yourself to any height you may wish to reach. You have the power to heal the deepest sorrow, satisfy the fiercest hunger, comfort the grossest humiliation that may ever come to you. You have this power in your own Imagination.

Nor need it cost you a penny to use this power. No matter how poor you are, or how obscure or ignorant—no matter how you may have failed or blundered—you may begin using this power by rules any child can follow.

Stop thinking about yourself and your life. Begin to think about the Other Fellow. Begin to force your Imagination up and out into the wider life exactly as you would force your body from a narrow cell into a larger room. Begin to wonder and question—begin to think how it feels to be somebody else—how it feels to do something else. If you can, go out into the street. Any street. Look at the faces. Any faces. As you look, let your Imagination enter those eyes, steal into those hearts — make you one with those stranger spirits.

That's the beginning. A deliberate, simple exercise—as simple and deliberate as your morning setting-up exercises. But go on. GO ON! As an exercised muscle expands, so does an exercised Imagination.

Presently you will be seeing beneath the shallow surface and above the trivial things . . . presently you will be rising, rising as on invisible wings . . . and beneath you there will spread the kingdoms of the earth . . . and around you there will sound those voices of God which the young Joan heard echoing in her village bells.

And to you, too, there will come miracles.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Sunday, April 24, 1921.

France asked the United States to resume seat on the Allied supreme council.

Rev. Meade A. Rugh was installed as pastor of the Lutheran church in Shiloh.

It was announced that Miss Birdis Bowerstock and Henry A. Ewald, both of Mansfield, were married March 14, in Galion.

Mrs. Tilburn G. Phillips, 79, died.

Book by Lewis J. Bonar on "Fire Insurance In Ohio," was published.

Large crowd attended opening of Bowman Heights subdivision, and it was reported 70 lots were sold.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Friday, April 24, 1936.

Hobart Scattergood, 83, pioneer Mansfield merchant, died.

Mrs. F. L. Hanson and Miss Jeanette Waring left for Y. W. C. A. convention in Colorado Springs.

Richland county was ready to start U. S. soil program.

Miss Helen Bein was visiting in Toledo.

Son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Willis Park, 135 Helen avenue.

TODAY IN HISTORY

On April 24, 1913, President Wilson sent Secretary of State William J. Bryan to California to procure the modification of the Anti-Alien Land Ownership bill. This bill was directly aimed at the Japanese desiring the purchase of farmlands.

Problem of Young Drivers.

Studies of accidents show that the young driver in America, despite his fast reactions and good co-ordination, does not measure up as well as he might to the demands of traffic problems.

The record for drivers under 25 years of age is five times as bad as that for the age group with the best record—45 to 50. The comparison is on the basis of miles driven and the report is made by the American Automobile association.

As drivers gain experience, judgment and caution, their record improves rather steadily, if not so fast as might be desired. The problem of the young driver is fundamentally one of education, the A.A.A. reports. Along that line the association makes available a manual of driver education and training for high school teachers. It includes detailed suggestions for classroom activities, for instruction behind the wheel, and for driving skill tests.

All this is aimed not only at technical improvement, but at a correct attitude toward use of the highways and sportsmanlike behavior.—Des Moines Register.

Hull's Praise of Soviet Reveals Washington's Fears for British

—By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—For many months, dapper little Russian Ambassador Constantine Oumansky used to complain privately that he could not get an audience with Cordell Hull, secretary of state.

"All I see is Sumner Welles," griped Ambassador Oumansky. "The matters I have to discuss should be taken up with the secretary of state personally."

But what the usually astute ambassador did not know was that Mr. Hull disliked all things Russian, didn't want to discuss Russia, or be reminded of Russia. He classified the Soviet with such institutions as carpet-baggers, John L. Lewis, Hull's cabinet colleague Harold Ickes, and the Civil war guerillas who attacked his father. Mr. Hull has one of the choicest vocabularies in Washington, and when he turned it loose on Russia he really outdid himself.

All of which is by way of emphasizing the change which took place the other day when Cordell Hull actually issued a public statement praising Soviet Russia.

That statement was issued not because Mr. Hull's basic feelings toward Russia had changed, but only because there are very few nations left in the world today which may be potential bulwarks against Hitler. Russia is foremost among them, and Mr. Hull openly and obviously was wooing the hated Soviet.

That incident, more than almost any other recent development in Washington, is a tell-tale indication of the seriousness with which cabinet members view the desperate plight of the British and the very dangerous situation of the United States.

Real fact is that many military strategists doubt whether the British can hold out until September:

They consider the British situation far worse than last June, when France fell. Then there still remained a few European nations which might stand against Hitler. But today the map of Europe resembles that of 1804, when Napoleon had swallowed the entire continent except Portugal, Spain, Switzerland, Sweden, and Turkey. Those same five countries are the only ones standing today.

Napoleon at that time was working with Russia. It was not until 1811 that he turned against Russia, and the tide later turned against him. Remembering that, perhaps, Cordell Hull has been wooing Russia, the country he hates, but the only strong ally to whom the democracies now can turn.

Roosevelt the Politician.

INSIDE the cabinet, Secretary Hull is not the only man worried about the war situation. Even more worried, at least more articulate, are Republican cabineteers Stimson and Knox, Democrat Morgenthau, and ex-Republican Ickes. In some degree, furthermore, the entire cabinet shares this worry.

Some are greatly concerned at the president's inactivity. Though faced with a desperate catastrophe, they feel that he has been waiting for public opinion to catch up to him.

Roosevelt always has prided himself on keeping his ear tuned to political ground-swells, being able to feel the public pulse. He knows when it is dangerous to get too far ahead of public sentiment, and when he is in step with it.

But today, some White House advisers believe Roosevelt is applying too much smart politics to gauging public opinion, instead of getting out in front and forming public opinion himself.

British Reverses.

SPECIFICALLY, here are some of the things they think the public should know:

1. That London has been as badly battered by recent air raids as Coventry; that the city is such a shambles that even the British, tough as they are, heroic as they are, are beginning to wonder how long they can hold out without help.

2. That British airplane production, because of the raids, has fallen far below that of last autumn — probably under 1,000 planes a month. (Hitler is reported producing 5,000 a month.)

3. That Britain has been so hard up for modern mechanized equipment that she could not fulfill her promise of tanks and aircraft to Turkey. This was why Turkey did not carry out her pledge to aid Yugoslavia.

4. That Turkey's new pact with Germany will reveal secret clauses permitting the Nazis to use vital Turkish railroads to get troops to Syria — a long step toward the Suez Canal.

5. That the French in North Africa show signs of cooperating with Hitler in carrying supplies across the Mediterranean, thereby aiding Axis attacks on the British. In fact, Nazi munitions for the desert campaign already are reported to have come via French Tunis (only 90 miles from Sicily).

6. That in addition to the attack on Suez, renewed efforts at invading England seem to be in the making.

These are some of the desperately discouraging reports that have been placed before the president—reports that make his cabinet members believe the convoying of merchant ships across the North Atlantic by the U. S. navy is necessary immediately, or it may be too late.

They are equally convinced—and so is the president—that the first defense of the United States continues to be the British fleet; that once the British fleet falls, the United States plus the Monroe Doctrine would be open to simultaneous attack on two oceans with only a one-ocean navy to defend it.

(Editor's Note — See tomorrow's column for the amazing similarity between the British position in the Balkans and the United States position in South America.)

Merry-Go-Round.

IN ADDITION to making a bare-knuckle reply in Collier's to Colonel Lindbergh's recent "Letter to Americans," which urges an appeasement policy toward the Axis, Wendell Willkie also will take the stump in the Midwest against other isolationist leaders. He will use Rushville, Ind., his campaign headquarters, as base of operations. . . . President Roosevelt has just completed his own landscape design for the new Naval hospital, outside Washington. He worked on it with a large wooden drawing-board, like a professional draughtsman, concentrating especially on a pattern of roads connecting the hospital's twelve buildings. All had to be accessible, yet the grounds could not be cut by too many roads. . . . Popular source of hand-wrought iron ware for Washington antique lovers is Collins' Forge, in Farmington, Conn., operated by Laurence Collins, college graduate and former newspaperman.

Mail Bag.

WE HAVE had more mail from readers on the question of strikes in defense industries than on any question in several years. Almost without exception, our readers have recommended legislation to outlaw strikes, many want to know the opinion of government officials.

One answer to this question comes from an official of the OPM, himself a leading industrialist, William L. Batt, president of SKF Industries, who says:

"Where there is delay due to strikes, I doubt if the solution can be found through legislation. We have pretty well proven that law can't compel a man and woman to live happily together; law didn't take the liquor problem off our shoulders; law hasn't stopped murder; law won't stop strikes. Even in England, where they are at war, there were over 900 strikes in 1940. It is interesting to see that most of the leaders in industry who have spoken on the subject agree that legislation to that end is not realistic."

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—If you see a man walking along Broadway in the daytime with a lighted lantern, looking for an honest producer, kindly refer him to Russell Crouse and Harold Lindsay.

Crouse and Lindsay are the producers of that insane "whodunit" cyclorama at the Fulton known as "Arsenic and Old Lace." Such is the urge among the local taxpayers to see this idyllic treatise on homicide en masse that tickets are now selling far into June.

But the Fulton theater itself is not the most desirable house in Manhattan from which to view the drama. Some of its orchestra seats are so far to the side that only a portion of the stage may be seen from them.

When this condition came to the attention of Messrs. Crouse and Lindsay, they took the trouble to view their own play from each of the condemned seats. With bold flourishes they checked off the undesirable seats with white pieces of chalk. Each flourish meant a loss of $3.30. In all 18 seats were eliminated, and it was also decided to discontinue selling the usual 38 standee tickets for each performance. All of which amounted to a loss of hundreds of dollars each week. "But what the hell's a coupla hundred when you've got a coupla million?" cried Crouse and Lindsay when asked about it.

ACTING doubtless on one of those let's-return-to-the-scene-of-the-crime impulses, Tallulah Bankhead spent her first night in Manhattan seeing Ethel Barrymore in "The Corn Is Green" at the National. It was at the National that Miss Bankhead spent a prosperous year as the star of "The Little Foxes," and she has just brought that play's sensational road career to an end. Naturally she hurried backstage for a long powwow with Miss Barrymore.

"All we talked about was baseball," she cried upon emerging. "Oh, my poor Giants. I hope Ott hits a home run every day."

Around town Miss Bankhead has the reputation of being a noisy and enthusiastic rooter for the Giants, but actually her knowledge of the game is slim. They say her enthusiasm was born of a meeting in a tavern one night with Mel Ott and Harry the Horse Danning. Thereafter all her spare afternoons were spent at the Polo Grounds, screaming for the Terrymen and beating her fists in frenzies of excitement against the ledges of the boxes.

THEY say around Broadway that a most vile trick was played upon the unsuspecting Tallulah and her beloved Giants. What happened was that they took her to Brooklyn, where the Dodgers play. Seeing an athlete in white uniform with the number "4" on his back, she immediately concluded it was Mel Ott of the Giants, and spent a happy afternoon cheering herself hoarse for him. It was not until the seventh-inning stretch that she learned she was cheering Camilli.

As for Miss Barrymore, her enthusiasm is based upon a firmer understanding of the pastime. On the bulletin board backstage is a scoreboard, and each day the cast indulges in a little sweepstake.

Cigarette Smoke.

No, it wasn't a fog. In 1940, Americans consumed 183 billion cigarettes, or, end to end, more than eight million miles of cigarettes. This year we're expected to boost the mileage to 260 billion smokes.—American Magazine.

A Farmer's Diary

Old Roads and New

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

HIGHWAYS about our home are interesting. One runs a mile to the west—a smooth macadam way where cars go by in great numbers. On Sundays and holiday a steady stream of traffic flows almost noiselessly. On other days and nights noisy trucks and trailers rumble through, until the ground some distance off trembles with their passing. Along this thoroughfare many people live, and apparently enjoy proximity to the constantly moving public.

Numerous dirt and gravel roads junction with this highway and run through the less frequented countryside. The gravel lanes, kept up by county road plows, are passable almost anytime of year. The surface has a tendency to become corrugated with use, and clouds of dust follow every car in dry weather. Traffic is not so heavy here, and homes may not be so modern. It is away from the discerning public eye. Green fields are a little nearer. Wild flowers grow beyond the ditch.

I always remember happily—the old dirt road that used to lead to our home when I was a boy. It led into a maze of country lanes and quiet woods—across a brook over rugged wooden bridge—close to the massive trunks of trees that stood like giants. A more modern highway led a shorter route to town, but if I could, I always used to go the longer way, to enjoy the fragrance rising from its flowery woodsy banks, the brambles fruiting purple cones along the flinty wall, the old mill with the clear stream for motive power.

Now the road is widened and "improved." The rustic bridge is gone and long conduits of concrete mark the place. The lovely trees are torn out and the stumps are gathered into a mighty heap upon the hill. The grassy bank is gouged out by a giant shovel. The road is widened—ditches are clean and straight.

Raw clay where cuts were made is planted to prevent weathering. It is the line of progress—but I do not care to travel this way any more. I would rather take the rougher, more winding way that goes around the hill, where things are much as Nature left them.

MAGICIAN SAYS BAGGAGE TRICK DUPED GESTAPO

Keith Clark Puts Money Under Labels on His Trunk To Slip Past Customs.

NEW YORK — (U.P.) — Keith Clark, international magician, is back in this country with a story of the astounding thoroughness of the German Gestapo in not missing a single bet on things that might have been of value to the Reich in the weeks before the outbreak of war.

Clark has a secret chemical formula he uses to produce blinding harmless flashes to mask certain magical effects. He used the flash during his acts in Stettin, Berlin and Hamburg and then he noticed that there were two men who always seemed to be among his audience no matter where he performed.

To make sure they were following him he went to night clubs where he ordered champagne. The men appeared soon thereafer. When he traveled, as he did, first class, he would saunter into the third class cars, and there were the same two men.

Finally they struck up an acquaintanceship and the two men took him to the Messerschmidtt factory. This was intended as a mark of honor, Clark said, in the hope he would tell his formula so it might be tested for use in bombs. But he refused and the next day his effects were ransacked in his absence.

Clark was told he could not take any money out of Germany. But he slipped funds past customs by steaming off the labels on his trunks, and pasting bills of large denomination underneath.

LESSENS SHOCK

Local Anaesthetic Is Urged After Surgery.

ST. LOUIS —(U.P.)— Sustained local anesthesia for several days after abdominal operations has been found to promote recovery and lessen pain shock, according to Dr. Robert Zollinger of Harvard University.

Dr. Zollinger told the Society of University Surgeons here that the procedure consisted essentially of blocking nerve centers with anesthetics in oil.

According to Dr. Zollinger, pain has been found to be a dominant factor in post-operative complications, including sudden weakness, prolonged lassitude and fatal shock. By submerging pain until healing has begun, recovery is expedited, he said.

VENDOL

Are You Stiff & Achy?

Mr. Fred Seibert of Adams Mills, Ohio, says, "When I'm constipated I suffer terribly from symptoms like feeling stiff and achy in most every muscle of my body, back aching, and it's misery to straighten up, due to constipation. Vendol had a big job on its hands when I started taking it, but has proven fully equal to the task by first giving temporary relief from constipation which I needed so badly. From one of the most miserable people, I'm now about the happiest so can recommend Vendol to everyone suffering like I did."

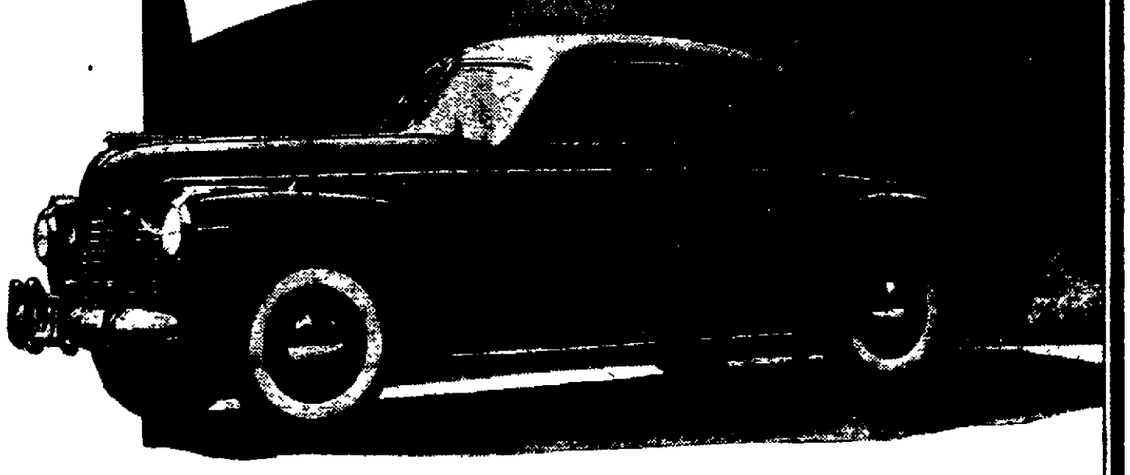
Buick SPECIAL 6-passenger Sedanet, $1006. White sidewall tires extra.*

No Clothespin on this Cars Nose!



WOULDN'T a sprinter or a long-distance runner look silly trying to race with a clothespin firmly clamped on his nose!

Yet, in a sense, something fairly close to that happens in nearly every car that lacks Buick's sensational Compound Carburetion.†

For your engine has to breathe in huge quantities of air to be mixed with gasoline before it is burned in the cylinders.

But single-carburetor fuel supply systems can handle only a given volume of air.

To that extent, then, an ordinary engine has a clothespin on its nose – a limitation on air supply for big power operation.

We remove that clothespin very simply – by having two carburetors; one that handles all casual driving smoothly and efficiently, another to jump in with more air and more fuel when you call for extra power by stepping on the gas treadle!

Simple? Very simple indeed.

And simply marvelous in the extra FIREBALL wallop it gives you and in the gas savings you get – as much as 10% to 15% over previous Buicks with the same-size engines.

Maybe you'd better go see your Buick dealer now.

GETS JOURNAL

University Receives Diary of Famous Physician.

PHILADELPHIA—(U.P.)—The original journal of the European travels of Dr. John Morgan, physician-in-chief of the American army during the Revolution and founder of the first medical school in the United States, has been presented to the University of Pennsylvania.

The diary, bound in sheepskin and containing entries dated from July 6, 1764, to Oct 31, 1764, was presented to the university by George Norris Morgan and Mrs. Julia Morgan, both of Pittsburgh and descendants of Dr. Morgan's brother, Col. George Morgan.

Dr. Morgan, a graduate of the first class at Penn, traveled in Italy, Switzerland and France in 1764, returning to this country the following year to found the medical school at his alma mater.

Homes Destroyed In Massachusetts Fire

Homes at Ocean Bluffs, Mass., are destroyed by a fire that started in a country meadow and, driven by a near-gale, spread rapidly through the South Shore resort area, leveling some 200 cottages, a church, a casino and several business structures. Ocean Bluffs is a popular seaside resort south of Boston.

USE INSULIN

Mental Cases Respond To Convulsion Therapy.

NORRISTOWN, Pa.—(U.P.)—Use of the insulin treatment and the metrazol convulsion therapy at Norristown state hospital for mental diseases has resulted in the discharge of a large percentage of the patients subjected to them, according to the institution's annual report.

According to Dr. Arthur P. Noyes, superintendent of the hospital, insulin shock treatment was used in 75 cases of schizophrenia. Although these cases still are being studied, Dr. Noyes revealed that of the first 100 cases treated in 1938, 76 per cent showed improvement or recovery.

Metrazol, used in cases of depression or involutional melancholy, showed recovery or improvement in 80 per cent of the 62 cases treated during the year, the report showed.

COOKING SCHOOL RECIPES LISTED FOR THIRD DAY

Ham 'n' Cabbage Dinner Tops Program; Cake, Frostings Also Demonstrated.

The following recipes were demonstrated and explained at today's session of The News-Journal Cooking school at the Madison theater:

1941 HAM AND CABBAGE DINNER

6 slices tenderized ham, about ¼ inch thick or boiled ham may be used
¼ cup water
3 cups finely cut cabbage
½ teaspoon salt, melted butter

Brush ham slices with butter and shape into a sort of cornucopia and put in pan and brown slightly in oven just before filling with cabbage that has been steamed in ¼ cup water and seasoned with melted butter.

Salt and pepper if desired. Cabbage should be steamed for o ly 8 to 10 minutes.

BISCUIT MIX

16 cups sifted flour
½ cup baking powder
2 tablespoons salt
1 pound shortening

To 16 cups of sifted flour, add salt and baking powder and sift twice. Cut in shortening with dough blender until shortening is well blended but not too fine. Place in covered can. This mixture may be kept on pantry shelf and used for biscuits muffins, etc. Just use any quantity needed and add sufficient milk to make a soft dough. Bake biscuits at 450 degrees.

ST. PATRICK'S SALAD

½ cup water
1½ cups apple sauce
1 package lime flavored gelatin lettuce or other greens
1 cup cottage cheese

Add the water to the applesauce and bring to a boil, stirring occasionally. Remove from the heat, add the gelatin and stir until dissolved. Pour into individual ring molds which have been rinsed in cold water. Cool and when firm unmold on lettuce or other greens. Pile cottage cheese in the center of the rings. Serves six.

BUFFET PARTY CAKE WITH DOUBLE BOILER CHOCOLATE FROSTING

A Spry Kitchen Recipe

1 cup shortening
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ teaspoon Pistachio flavoring
2 cups granulated sugar
4 eggs
3 cups sifted flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup milk
2 oz. butter chocolate, shaved into small chips

Add salt and flavoring to shortening. Add sugar and cream well. Then add eggs one at a time, and beat well after each addition. Add flour to which baking powder was added, alternately with milk. Last, add the chipped chocolate, pour into large oblong pan that has been prepared with pan-coat. Bake at 350 degrees for 50 minutes. When cool, frost with double boiler chocolate frosting.

DOUBLE BOILER CHOCOLATE FROSTING

1½ cups granulated sugar
2 unbeaten egg whites
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
5 tablespoons cold water

Put above ingredients in top of double boiler and place over boiling water beating at once with a Dover beater or electric beater. Continue beating until mixture will hold a peak when beater is lifted. Stop electric beater before lifting beater. Remove from lower part of boiler and add 2 or 3 ounces of bitter chocolate that has been melted and cooled. Fold in, do not beat. Add 1 teaspo n vanilla. Spread on cake and garnish with marshmallows.

YUMMY TOMATOES

Select firm whole tomatoes. Remove skin carefully by first dipping tomatoes in rapidly boiling water for an instant. Save the skin. Cut tomatoes in half crosswise and remove seeds and excess juice. Fill cavities with sharp cheese. Place halves together again and seal cut with skin. Dip tomatoes in bread crumbs, egg and again in crumbs. Fry in deep fat until golden brown at 380 degrees. Served with a creamed vegetable and stuffed baked potato makes an excellent meatless meal.

BEEF CASSEROLE AND DUMPLINGS

2 lbs beef in large chunks
1 can tomato soup diluted with
1 can water (hot)
1 bay leaf
2 whole cloves
1½ cups cubed vegetables
¼ cup green peas
3 tablespoons minute tapioca salt
pepper
3 tablespoons shortening

Melt shortening and add meat that has been dipped in flour, browning it well in fat, then add tomato soup and water and seasonings. Cook very slowly for one hour, then add vegetables and cook ½ hour longer. If this dish is done in over, tapioca and vegetables may be added after meat is browned. If cooked on surface of range, add vegetables and tapioca last ½ hour.

Tripoli Bombed By British Fleet

At left is a view of the city of Tripoli, capital of Italian Libya, which was subjected to the heaviest bombardment of the war, according to London. The British Mediterranean fleet, aided by RAF and naval planes, are reported to have rained more than 3,700,000 pounds of explosives on the port. The Axis forces have been landing their African supplies here. The map at right shows the narrow passage from Italian-held Sicily to Tripoli.

News Happenings From Communities In Richland County, Vicinity

CRAWFORD C. E. HOLDS RALLY AT GALION SUNDAY

Union Members Will Meet For All Day Session at Church.

GALION—Tennyson Guyer, Celina, Ohio, and Rev. Harry W. Baumer of Cleveland, Ohio, will be the speakers when the Evangelical and Reformed Church of Galion welcomes the Crawford County Christian Endeavor Union to their church, Sunday, for the annual Spring Rally.

The theme, "Jesus Is Always There" has been chosen for the Rally which will be held both afternoon and evening.

Mr. Guyer will be the speaker during the afternoon service which begins at 2:45 p. m. He has spent six years in the ministry and has served in many executive capacities of the church, having recently finished a religious book entitled "The Church—Institution or Destitution?"

As councellor for the Boy Scouts and 4-H Clubs, he has spent much time with youth of his community both religiously and recreationally. He is well known as a speaker and a humorist.

Rev. Harry W. Baumer, president of the Ohio Christian Endeavor Union, and minister of the Eighth Reformed Church in Cleveland, will deliver the address of the evening and install the newly elected officers for the coming year. He is well known in C. E. activities and has had a continuous history of service in Christian Endeavor for over 25 years.

For the afternoon session, the third vice president, Isabelle Cliff of Bucyrus, will preside. This session will include a devotional service by the Bethel United Brethren society, a song service under the direction of Rev. Albert J. E. Manton of the Bucyrus Methodist church, a glockenspiel solo by Martha Holcher of Crestline with Catherine Greter at the piano, and a trumpet duet by Martha Jane Speigel and Miriam Smith of the Harmony Evangelical society.

The evening service will begin at 7:30 p. m. with Robert Eichhorn of the host church, and president of the county union, presiding. Joanne Hoekstra will be at the organ for prelude offertory and to accompany the Junior Choir of the local church. Mrs. Chester Zimmerman is the choir director. Albert Smith, jr., of the Crestline Reformed will play a piano number, and the devotional service will be in charge of the Reformed church of Bucyrus. During the supper hour program, Jean Huy of Galion will be the toastmaster.

Weddings — Parties — Clubs

FIRST OF SERIES OF PARTIES GIVEN HERE

Mrs. Eugene Almy, Recent Bride, Honored Wednesday Evening When Four Young Women Entertain With Bridge Party.

THE FIRST in a series of post-nuptial parties to be given in honor of Mrs. Eugene Almy, the former Kitty Jane Birch, was held last evening at the Susie Janis home, Park avenue west road, with 18 guests in attendance. Hostesses for the pretty party were Mrs. Esther Fry, Miss Betty Fisher, Miss Kay Johnson and Miss Betty Koogle.

The honoree received an orchid corsage from the hostesses and the guests surprised her with a shower of linen gifts. Bridge was the diversion with score prizes being won by Mrs. Dorothy Davis and Miss Betty Eberhardt, who presented them to the bride. Mrs. Almy received a wedding gift from the hostesses.

At the close of the evening a luncheon was served at one long table which was attractive with a bridal party centerpiece. Dainty miniature pitchers filled with spring flowers were favors at each place.

The next party for Mrs Almy will be given at The Woods, near Ashland, when her office associates at the Farmers bank will entertain Tuesday evening, April 29.

Alpha Delta Pi Group Hold Election Here

Mrs. Robert T. Powell was elected president of Alpha Delta Pi city club when they met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. W. W. Workman, Beal road. Other officers elected at the time were Mrs. W. W. Workman, vice president, and Mrs Howard Heston, secretary-treasurer.

Plans to raise money for the club fund were discussed. A guest party and outdoor breakfast will be held May 25 at the cabin of Dr. and Mrs. William Reister. A called meeting will be held May 1 at the home of Mrs. Howard Heston at 7:30 o'clock.

The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Alvina Ness, May 21, in Shelby. Bridge was played during the close of the evening with high score prizes awarded to Mrs. John Bell and Mrs. R. T. Powell. Lunch was served at a table decorated with peach blossoms and candelabra.

Delano Auxiliary Plans Coming Events

Delano Auxiliary members met Wednesday evening in the lodge hall for a business session. Mrs. Bessie Ricks presided over the business meeting. Mrs. Janice Hunter was welcomed as a new member. During the business meeting plans to contribute to the local Girl and Boy Scout organizations were made.

Plans for a Mother's Day covered-dish dinner to be held at the hall, May 7, at 6:30 o'clock were discussed. Mrs. Elmira Caugherty was appointed chairman of the dinner and Mrs. Elizabeth Blocker, chairman of entertainment committee. Mrs. Edith Ogden was presented with an attendance award. Games were played and prizes awarded Mrs. Ogden and Miss Marie Gatton

COUNCIL MEETING.

There will be a meeting of the Lamplighters Council at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday at 1:30 p. m. for a business session.

Garden Center Opening Held At Liberty

THE opening of the new Garden Center at the Public Library was well attended last evening and with the cooperation of the Mansfield Garden clubs it is hoped the clinic will prove most helpful to the residents of the community. The center which has been planned by the garden clubs of the city is open to the public and tends to promote civic interest in horticulture and all forms of gardening.

As was announced previously the center will be open at any time the library is open. The headquarters is located in a front room on the second floor where on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons a garden club consultant will be present to answer any questions without charge.

When the center was officially opened to the public Wednesday evening those in attendance were privileged to hear a talk by Hollis T. Van Kleeck, jr., of Cleveland, whose topic concerned "Spring Planting." He spoke principally on the make-up of the soil and told of the plant foods and how to combine them with the soil. He also explained the preparation necessary for spring planting and spoke on the perennials and annuals. Another interesting phase of his talk was on building and rebuilding a lawn. The talk was followed by a question period.

John Routzon, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, was present and endorsed the Center. It was planned to hold a May program at the Library with the theme on "Flowering Shrubs." with members of the Astowela Garden club in charge. These programs are open to the public without charge. The rooms were decorated with all types of lovely spring arrangements of flowers and spring borders in dainty trays were attractively placed around the Center.

PROLONG LIFE OF COTTONS.

Sheets, tablecloths, napkins, and similar household cottons which go into the electric washing machine and are ironed regularly each week can be given longer life if they are folded and pressed differently from time to time. Fabrics tend to wear thin if they are always folded in the same way.

Mrs. J. H. Boyd, Jr., Chosen To Head Conversationals

Mrs. J. H. Boyd, jr, was elected president of the Conversational club when the last program meeting of the year was held Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. H. N. Kroegher, 372 Ruth avenue. Others chosen for new offices include Mrs. Eugene Smart, vice president, and Mrs. Howard Diller, secretary-treasurer.

The meeting was then turned over to Mrs. F. E. Ross who conducted the work on the scrap books which are being made for the convalescent children at the Mansfield General hospital. Following the business and social hour, refreshments were served with a bouquet of yellow spring flowers decorating the tea table. Mrs. Walter Goodenough poured.

The last meeting of the season will be held May 14, at which time the group will have a surprise trip and program. Mrs. Ross is in charge of arrangements.

Birthday Anniversaries Observed By Two Groups

The 57th anniversary of the McLaughlin Corps, W. R. C., and the eigth birthday anniversary of the Sarah E Lewis Junior club were observed Wednesday evening with a dinner and program at the Memorial building. Sixty attended the celebration and the group was seated at long tables which were beautifully decorated with jonquils in crystal vases and lighted tapers in crystal candlesticks. Favors at each place were tiny lighted tapers.

Mrs. Sarah Case presided and extended welcome after which Mrs. Faye Stofer, patriotic instructor, opened the program. Mrs. Carrie Young played a piano solo and Mrs. Eleanor Stone Smith favored with a vocal number. Miss Irene Schuler played an accordion solo and Joanne Freeland presented a reading. The history of the corps was given by Miss Lenore Horn followed by a vocal duet by Misses Naomi Locke and Juanita Griffin.

The program was brought to a close by the pledge to the flag and the furling of the Stars and Stripes. The social prize was presented to Mrs. Katherine Yost. Mrs. Leona Locke and her committee planned the dinner. The next meeting will be held May 14 at the hall.

Mrs. K. E. Buhr Will Head Local P. T. A. Council

Mrs. K. E. Buhr was chosen to head the Mansfield Parent-Teachers' association council for the coming two years when election of officers was held at the John Simpson Junior high school Wednesday evening. She succeeds Mrs. Milo Hieber, who has managed the activities of the council for the past term.

New officers assisting Mrs. Buhr will be W. W. Blauser, corresponding secretary, and W. O. Leedy, treasurer. It was planned to send Mrs. Buhr to the national convention to be held in Boston, May 19-22. The school of instruction was also planned and will be held May 28 with a session at 1:30 p. m. at the John Simpson Junior high school, followed by dinner at 6 and an evening meeting at 8 o'clock. At that time the presidents of the various P. T. A. groups will review the work of the past year.

Announcement was also made of the family relations conference to be held in Ashland Tuesday at which time Mrs. Georgia T. Williams, state director of this department, from Columbus, will be the guest speaker.

Following the business meeting Mrs. A. M. Colby spoke on "School Gardens" and Mrs. V. E. Pennell talked on "Library Aids for the Community." Reports were also given on the recent district conference which was held in Fremont.

St. John's Guild Has Regular Meet

St. John's Guild members met Wednesday evening in the church parlors for a social and business meeting. Rev. Paul Saleste led the group in prayer. Devotions were led by Mrs. Mildred Finfgeld and Mrs. Olive Garver. Norma Touby and Richard Fisher furnished the musical program.

Hostesses for this meeting were Mrs. Rose Leonard, Mrs. Edna Stauffer, Mrs. Rita Touby and Mrs. Lydia Watkins. Committees in charge of the next meeting which is being held May 7, in the church parlors, are chairman program committee, Mrs. Melvina Damlos and serving committee, Mrs Florence Pfeifer, Mrs. Ida Winters and Mrs. Jeannette Schmitt.

PLAY CARDS.

Deluxe Pinochle club members met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Amanda Murray, 241 Remy avenue. One guest, Mrs. Wayne Jackson, was in attendance. Cards were the diversion of the evening with prizes being won by Mrs. R. C. Murray, Mrs. Walter Mapes and Mrs. Fred Foss Lunch was served at the close of the meeting. Mrs C. H. Eller, 91 East Second street, will entertain the club at her home May 7.

April, Month For Serving Oyster Dishes

By BETSY NEWMAN.

According to long time usage, April is the last month in which we're supposed to serve oysters. Dealers tell us, however, that the quick frozen method allows us to enjoy them at any time of the year. At any rate, let us try them fried for today's menu.

Today's Menu.

Fried Oysters with Tartar Sauce
Stewed Tomatoes Spinach
Spring Green Salad
Chocolate Mint Ice Cream
Cookies Coffee

Fried Oysters.

Three dozen oysters, 1 cup fine bread crumbs, cracker crumbs or corn meal; 1 tablespoon water, ½ teaspoon salt, pepper, 2 eggs.

Drain oysters and dry between two towels. Dip in seasoned crumbs, egg diluted with water and then in crumbs again. Fry in deep fat, 385 degrees F., until golden brown. Dain on soft paper and serve with tartar sauce.

TARTAR SAUCE.

One cup mayonnaise, 1 tablespoon minced pickles, 1 tablspoon minced olives, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1 teaspoon minced onion. Mix all ingredients together and serve with oysters. Nice to serve with any kind of fish.

When you want to make your vegetable soup extra good, cut up a little Thuringer sausage or frankfurter and add to soup when done.

LIONS CLUB MEMBERS GIVE DINNER PARTY

Informal Meeting Held at Ballroom of Mansfield-Leland Hotel Wednesday Evening With Sixty In Attendance.

ATTY. HOWARD HENDERSHOTT of Cleveland, district governor of the Lions club, was the guest speaker last evening when Lions club members entertained their wives with an informal dinner party in the ballroom of the Mansfield-Leland hotel. Sixty were in attendance and were seated at long tables decorated with bouquets of spring flowers. Guests were present from Bucyrus, Mt. Vernon and Fredericktown.

Following the message from Mr. Hendershott an impromptu program was given which consisted of the following numbers: piano solo by William Edwards, whistling solo by Matthew Liston, and vocal selection by Mrs. Don Snyder. Mr. Liston and Rev. Albert Linder led the group in singing. Comedy entertainment was furnished by Foy Herrindene of Fredericktown.

Junior Sorosis Members Given Beauty Talk

"What Is Your C. Q? (Charm Quotient)" was the topic discussed Wednesday evening when members of the Junior Sororsis club were entertained at the Milady Beauty Salon with Miss Loretta Derr and Mrs. Della Buckley as hostesses. Illustrating their informative talks with a model, various types of hair styles were shown and explained in relation to the shape of the face and a facial treatment was shown.

The next meeting will be held May 7 at the home of Mrs. Eugene Linham, 33 Glenwood boulevard, at which time Miss Edith Beck will give a travelogue.

BINGO PLAYED.

Mrs. Albert Gump, Walter avenue, was hostess to members of the Semper Filedis club at her home Wednesday evening. Bingo was the diversion with prizes being awarded to Mrs. Elizabeth Kelly and Mrs. Clyde Smith. Later refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held May 13 at the home of Mrs Harley Humphreys, Coolridge Heights.

Recent Bride Honored With Nuptial Party

Mrs. Jerry Hollister, nee Dora Slemmons, who recently was married, was the guest of honor Wednesday evening at a party given at the Kramer home, Stewart avenue, by Miss Ann Laubscher. The affair was a dessert-bridge with 12 in attendance. The diversion was played at three tables with score prizes won by Mrs. John Fuller and Mrs. George Drumm, who gave them to the bride.

The group presented Mrs. Hollister with a gift of furniture. Refreshments were served at small tables which were decorated with appointments in the pastel colors and dainty centerpieces of sweetpeas.

On Wednesday evening Mrs. Clarence Church, South Diamond street, will entertain for Mrs Hollister, at her home.

Boy Leaves After Telling Lies To Two

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A letter in this morning's mail offers a possible solution to the often-asked question: "Why doesn't he come to see me any more?"

The letter goes on to say: "He was devotion itself until he suddenly dropped out of the picture. When I meet him on the street he just speaks and goes on."

Perhaps a wife's letter which came today may explain the sudden drop to zero on the part of many boy friends.

"Dear Miss Fairfax:

"I'm always amused when I read letters in your column from young ladies, telling that their ardent lovers have suddenly quit calling. Has it never occurred to them that there might be a possibility of a wife in the background who has suddenly discovered her husband's latest romance?

"Mine was supposedly spending his evenings in the company of an amateur photographer, where he was improving himself in the art of picture-taking. He was also spending every Sunday in trips to the mountains with this expert photographer.

"I wanted to believe him so desperately that I did not question his interest in picture-taking. One day I accidentally discovered some snapshots of a very attractive girl standing by our new automobile at a resort many miles from home. Put on the spot, my husband admitted the photographer was a girl in whom he was interested. He confessed that he lied to her as much as he had lied to me, and that she had no idea he was married.

"He says he has dropped her since the discovery of the snapshots. It's hard to believe that a man who had been rushing a girl could break off so abruptly without explanation. I would advise this girl, and many others in the same boat, to discover why the boy friend calls no more.

"Why should these men go scot free of the suffering and heartache they cause not only the loyal wife at home but the girl to whom they have lied? I have not met this girl, and naturally my husband withholds all information about her.

"I do feel, however, if she is the innocent young thing he tells me she is, that she would be glad to talk things over with me. I hold no ill feeling toward her, for she has been as cruelly deceived as I.

"I wish, above all things, to preserve our home for the sake of our little children, but I cannot bear these heartaches and sorrows a second time, and can only wish that this girl is not as unhappy as I am over the duplicity of a man we both love.

"A WIFE."

This letter requires no comment. But it might be well for girls who meet attractive men casually to find out something about them before they accept such attentions as all day Sunday outings. You wouldn't buy a new carpet sweeper, a refrigerator or a washing machine without knowing something about it. Why accept a boy friend on faith alone?

CROCHETED MEDALLION PATTERN 2832

By LAURA WHEELER

Even a beginner will proudly show her handiwork, if she uses this lovely crocheted medallion, Summer Garden. It looks like butterflies fluttering among flowers. Pattern 2832 contains directions for medallion; photograph of medallion; illustrations of it and stitches; materials required.

Send ten cents in coin for this pattern to The Mansfield News-Journal, Needlecraft Dept., 82 Eighth Avenue, New York, N. Y. Write plainly Pattern Number, your Name and Address.

By MARIAN MARTIN

One really feminine afternoon dress is a wardrobe "must have" for summertime! You'll fall in love at first sight with Pattern 9701—a typical Marian Martin design in its good taste, lovely lines and simple making. The back of the frock is in slim, supple princess style, while in front the panelling is interrupted by a high-curved waist-seam that holds-up the soft gathered fullness of the bodice panels. Notice how cleverly the shape of the waist-seam is repeated in the novelty yokes. You might add buttons down the front and use clips, a necklace or flowers at the V-neck. Though just short gathered sleeves are pictured, long or three-quarter sleeves are included in this style that you'll need right away.

Pattern 9701 may be ordered only in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 3¼ yards 39 inch fabric.

Send fifteen cents in coins for this Marian Martin pattern. Be sure to write plainly your Size, Name, Address, and Style Number.

Send your order to The Mansfield News-Journal Pattern Department, 232 W. 18th St., New York, N. Y.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

I have experienced many tense periods of waiting in my life, beside sick beds, in besieged houses, on board rescue ships, but I think I never have undergone a more nerve-racking period of keyed-up watchfulness than was mine while I sat quietly in my train compartment and watched the door through which I was sure the gangster would come in search of me.

He would be super-efficient, and utterly ruthless. I knew that from what I had seen of him when he was threatening us while we were escorting Carolyn. Only Dicky's foresight in summoning the state troopers had saved Carolyn from being snatched from our custody. But my throat muscles constricted with the knowledge that every revolution of the train wheels was carrying me further and further from my husband, and I was sorely tempted to regret my stifling of the impulse to tell him that I had recognized the gangster.

The First Move.

I tried to steel myself to composure, but when after a quarter-hour of tense waiting, I saw the door of the car swinging open, silhouetting the lithe, strong figure of the young gangster against the darkness of the passageway, I had all I could do to keep from shrieking aloud.

But from somewhere in the depths of my being, strength welled up to me, and with steady fingers, I slipped my hand beneath the large handkerchief covering my tiny silencer pistol which I had put at the top of my bag. I closed my hand upon the pistol, and with the other holding a small magazine, pretended to read while the man moved leisurely along the aisle, stopping once to peer down at the dozing old man at the end of the car, who, I had noted before, was the only other passenger.

I flatter myself that no one could guess I was using my old trick of observing things from beneath my dropped eyelids, and the man evidently believed that I was reading, for when he stopped, just before he reached my side, while my muscles tensed to meet whatever type of attack he might spring, he spoke, with just the suave approach he might have given any casual acquaintance.

"Mrs. Graham? This is indeed a surprise, to find you here. May I sit down?"

I had expected the poke of a revolver in my ribs, with a command to hand over the letter I was carrying, or perhaps a blow which would make me incapable of resisting any search he might make of my belongings or my person. But this courteous request, made from at least a foot away, almost, but not quite, put me off my guard.

I waited for the fraction of a second before I answered him, for I wanted to be sure that I could command my voice and my eyes. Then I gave a little start, as if I had just come back from my printed page, and, raising my eyes, looked at him with calm inquiry.

"I am sorry," I said, "but I do not remember your face. Where and when have I met you?"

Dropping the Mask.

He smiled, in apparently gentle condescension, and sat down opposite me without waiting for permission.

"I have been given to understand that you have a most wonderful memory," he said, and I realized that in some mysterious fashion, he had been able to overhear my telephone conversation with my father. But I knew also that it would be highly indiscreet to let him know that I had grasped the reason for his knowledge.

"You are a good actress," he said judicially. Then he leaned toward me, with his suddenly icy eyes fixed on me, and his voice, low, metallic and compelling.

"Enough of nonsense," he said. "Hand over that letter at once!"

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, April 25.

While sound judgment and clear thinking may be among the desired factors for success on this day yet there is also a sign encouraging the taking of suddenly presented opportunities, with snap judgment or gambles bearing fruit if not too recklessly indulged. The element of quick action figures but there should be reasonable consideration, based on sound information or principle, to back it up

If It Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year in which sudden strokes of fortune may be quickly and cleverly grasped without flying in the face of providence by rash and ill-considered moves. Back up sudden "hunches" by worthwhile information and sound tactics, rather than impulses.

A child born on this day although having keen insight and intuitions may also be prone to snap judgments and reckless ventures, leading to reversals.

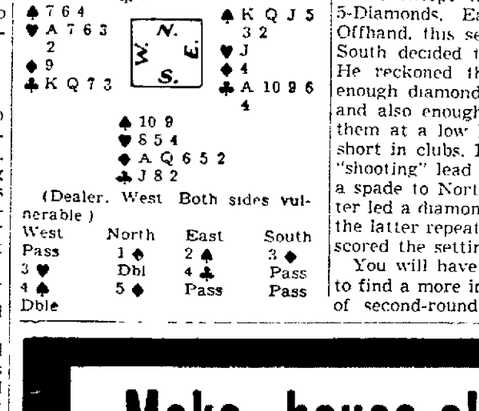
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

TOO LAZY TO FIGURE IT

Many a singleton lead is easy to read if you will concentrate upon thinking a bit about it. But some players are really too lazy, or something, to exert the small amount of effort to figure it out. Others will go through the most elaborate series of calculations to deduce something which requires two or three stages of reckoning to reach the important result. The difference is not only a difference between success and failure, but in the long run is the chief difference between fine and ordinary bridge players.



(Dealer, West Both sides vulnerable)

West	North	East	South
Pass	1 ♠	2 ♠	3 ♦
3 ♥	Dbl	4 ♣	Pass
4 ♠	5 ♦	Pass	Pass
Dble

When East led the heart J to West's A, the latter should have reckoned quickly that it was a singleton, as North would not have been likely to double the heart bid with only three cards of the suit. If he had returned it, that ruffing trick plus the club A would have set the contract. But West instead returned the spade 7 to the A of North, who thereupon dropped trumps, ran hearts, discarding South's remaining spade, ruffed his own last spade in the dummy and gave up a club at the end, making his contract.

Such was the play at one table of a team of four match. At the other, the bidding went about the same, except that, after North's 5-Diamonds, East bid 5-Spades. Offhand, this seems makable, but South decided to lead his club 2. He reckoned that, if North had enough diamonds to bid that way and also enough hearts to double them at a low level, he might be short in clubs. It was distinctly a "shooting" lead East took it, led a spade to North's A and the latter led a diamond to south When the latter repeated the club, North scored the setting ruff.

You will have to go a long way to find a more interesting example of second-round ruffs which can beat otherwise safe contracts by both sides.

Tomorrow's Problem.

(Dealer: North, North-South vulnerable.)

Against South's 7-Spades, if West leads the club 3 in preference to his partner's diamond suit, how should South play to make his contract?

PINEAPPLE FRITTERS

Fried the Spry FULL FLAVOR way

1 cup sifted flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
¼ cup sugar
1¼ teaspoons salt
1 egg, beaten
¾ cup milk
1 tablespoon Spry, melted
5 slices canned pineapple, drained and cut in quarters

Sift flour, baking powder, sugar and salt together. Combine egg and milk; add to dry ingredients, beating until smooth. Add Spry and mix well.

Dip pineapple pieces in batter and fry in deep hot Spry (375° F.) about 4 minutes. Test the fat (if you have no thermometer) with a 1-inch square of sliced bread and if it turns golden brown in 1 minute, the temperature is right for frying. Drain on absorbent paper. Serves 6.

REMEMBER: Spry is purer—does not smoke at proper frying temperature. So don't wait for Spry to smoke before starting to fry.

(All measurements in this recipe are level.)

TIME and place below—come! Find out the amazing difference it makes when you bake and fry with purer Spry. Ordinary shortenings may "stifle" flavor, but purer Spry lets you get that FULL rich natural food flavor.

Just try these Pineapple Fritters and notice their true pineapple tang. So crispy and golden, too, so easy to digest. Do all your frying with Spry—baking, too!

3 AND HALF BILLION NEW TAXES SOUGHT

surtaxes which may force many persons to pay six times as much income tax as before, and also to put either new or additional taxes on soft drinks, liquor, cigarets, gasoline and many other commodities.

Together with existing taxes which may make the nation's total federal tax bill in the next fiscal year (beginning July 1) about $12,600,000,000, the secretary said "we shall find ourselves spending less than 15 per cent of our national income for the national safety."

Morgenthau described the new tax program in these points:

"First of all, it presents a method of paying as we go for a reasonable proportion of our expenditures.

"Secondly, it is designed so that all sections of the people shall bear their fair share of the burden.

"Third, it will help to mobilize our resources for defense by reducing the amount of money that the public can spend for comparatively less important things.

"And finally, it is designed to prevent a general rise in prices by keeping the volume of monetary purchasing power from outrunning production."

As far as the government is concerned, Morgenthau said, the nation must continue to take care of the needy in need of relief and other essential costs.

He has estimated that total federal expenditures, including both defense and non-defense items, will be $19,000,000,000 and the new tax program was designed so that the treasury could pay cash for at least two-thirds of these costs.

Secretary Morgenthau was summoned for a broad outline of his views on raising enough new revenue to place two-thirds of the government's operating costs on a cash basis. His aide, John L. Sullivan, assistant treasury secretary in charge of tax matters was asked to discuss a detailed program.

The committee already has before it a treasury plan which would increase existing income taxes as much as six times in some cases, and a counter-plan which would be somewhat less drastic on most of those who make less than $20,000 a year.

This counter-plan, prepared by the staff of the joint congressional committee on taxation, was reported to provide for a surtax on all net incomes above $2,000 The surtax rates would range upward from 6 percent In addition, taxpayers would have to pay the present 10 percent defense supertax, so the effective starting rate would be 6 6.

The initial surtax rate under the treasury program would be 11 percent (12 1 when supertax was added)

Both schedules would make the surtax additional to the normal income levy of 4 percent (4 4 including supertax) and both would permit the deduction of tax and interests payments, contributions to charity, losses and the like. What remains after these deductions is the so-called net income.

Examples of what difference the two programs would make (in round figures):

A single man with a net income of $1.000 would pay a total tax (normal plus surtax) of $29 under the treasury plan and $4 under the committee staff proposal. The latter figure is his tax under present law.

A childless married couple with net income of $3,000 now pays $31. The staff plan would increase this to $97, the treasury to $152.

The treasury plan, on the other hand, would be less severe than the reported staff proposal on married couples with two minor children and a net income ranging from $2,000 to $4,000. For instance, such a couple with a $3,000 net income, now paying no tax, would be subjected to a levy of $24 under the treasury plan and $66 under the other.

With a $4.000 net income such a married couple would pay $180 on the treasury basis and $167 on the staff plan. The present tax is $35.

All these examples assume that all net income is earned and an earned income credit of 10 percent was claimed in figuring the normal tax but not the surtaxes.

After the starting rate of 6 percent on net income between $2.000 and $4.000, the staff plan would levy 10 per cent on the $4.000 to $6.000 bracket; 14 on $6.000-$8.000, 18 on $8,000-$10,000, 21 on $10,000-$12,000, 24 on $12,000-$14,000, 27 on $14,000-$16,000, 30 on $16,000-$18,000, 33 on $18,000-$20,000, and so on, up to 75 per cent on income above $5,000,000.

The treasury plan would levy an 11 percent surtax on the first $2,000 taxable under its formula, 14 percent on the $2,000-$4,000 bracket, 16 on $4,000-$6,000, 19 on $6,000-$8,000, 21 on $8,000-$10,000, 23 on $10,000-$12,000, 25 on $12,000-$14,000, 27 on $14,000-$16,000, 29 on $16,000-$18,000, 31 on $18,000-$20,000, the maximum rate under which this plan also is 75 percent above $5,000,000.

Ways and means committee members said that the staff plan would provide more excise taxes than those proposed by the treasury. Both were said to include new excise taxes.

Italy Rejects British Warning

LONDON —(U P)— Italy has received and rejected a warning that British forces in East Africa would not be responsible for the safety of Italian civilians in Ethiopian areas not under British control unless the Italians lay down their arms, it was announced today.

The warning was given by Maj. Gen. A. G. Cunningham, British commander in chief in East Africa, to an envoy of the Duke of Aosta, Italian viceroy of Ethiopia, who went to Khartoum to negotiate.

Cunningham told the envoy April 15 that there must be a complete Italian surrender. Two days later the envoy returned and asked that proposals be made in writing because, in view of their importance, they must be forwarded to Rome.

There are tens of thousands of Italian civilians in areas of Ethiopia which the British forces have not yet occupied but from which Italian troops are withdrawing.

Strong forces of Ethiopian warriors are operating in some areas and all Ethiopian natives are eager to avenge alleged cruelties of the Italian administration.

"Grandma may not have had such measuring cups as we use today, but she always used the same utensils," said Mrs. Bowen in refuting the common saying that "grandma never measured anything."

Cooked frostings, "usually a woman's downfall even though she can bake good cakes," were also demonstrated during the program. As the finishing touches were put on each tempting dish it was displayed against a mirror so that the audience might see it.

A question bee was introduced during today's program. Mrs. Bowen invited the women to come upon the stage and assist her in a question and answer period. About 30 women responded.

The food lecturer's program today included all-brand date bread, mock cinnamon bread, buffet party cake with double boiler chocolate frosting, biscuit mix and St. Patrick's salad.

Talmadge reported that the burglary at his home was discovered at 4.40 p. m. Ermil Balensco, 139 Reba avenue, gardener at the home, told police that he saw two young men near the house early in the afternoon.

In the burglary at the Tharp home Tharp reported that the night lock on the front door of the residence had been pried off with a small iron bar and that the rooms had been ransacked. He placed the time of the burglary between 1:30 and 5 p. m.

The police chief also warned today that residents should guard against fur thieves. Mrs. G. L. DeYarmon, 48 Helen avenue, told police that a young woman, representing herself as an employe of a Cleveland fur company, had called at her home, asking possession of her furs to take them to Cleveland for summer storage.

Shortly afterward, Mrs Willard Dickson, 59 Rowland avenue, reported that someone had called her one the phone, asking if she wished to send her furs to Cleveland for storage. The person on the phone, Mrs. Dickson said, indicated that she was Mrs. DeYarmon.

Neither Mrs. DeYarmon nor Mrs. Dickson released their furs and reported the incidents to the police immediately.

that time, he proposed that the northern mines, where the UMW and operators were in agreement on a new wage scale, reopen at once, and that the union and southern producers enter into negotiations and at the same time reopen the southern mines.

The southern mine owners on Tuesday night began conferring again with the union, but withdrew 24 hours later.

They declined to agree to the union's demand for a wage boost which would wipe out the 40-cent sectional differential which exists under the old contract which expired March 31. Under that contract, northern miners were paid $6 a day, southerners $5.60. The union asked for a $7 scale in both regions Although northern operators finally accepted this proposal, the southern mine owners declared that elimination of the differential would put many of them out of business.

John L. Lewis, union president, said the UMW would not divide its forces, and that it remained for the southern group to accept the president's proposal so that all the mines could be reopened.

The mediation board was expected to move without delay in seeking prompt settlement of the controversy.

NAZIS ADMIT BRITISH CHECK ATHENS DRIVE

Except for a bloody climax the Greek campaign is finished, German military observers declared.

The climax now unfolding, they said, is the battering which the departing British are getting from the Luftwaffe along the southern coast of Greece and far out over the Mediterranean.

German aviators told of scenes of the wildest confusion as Nazi bombers hammered at hastily loaded British transports and, they said, sank many.

Ships totaling upwards of 160,000 tons, many jammed with British soldiers, already have been sunk, the Germans asserted.

"With the operation still incomplete, losses approaching those of Dunkerque already have been inflicted," a military spokesman declared.

It was said the British lost at least 240,000 tons of shipping in the Dunkerque evacuation.

German reports said the British retreat became a pell-mell flight after the surrender of the Greek armies of Macedonia and Epirus which became effective last night.

The German air force, it was said, has concentrated so much on large harbors such as Piraeus and Khalkis and on large ships that the British now are showing a preference for minor ports and small vessels which are harder to detect among the numerous islands along the Greek coast.

Germans said the British evacuation problem was much more difficult than at Dunkerque because the overseas line of retreat to Egypt is so long.

(The air line distance from Athens to the British naval base at Alexandria is roughly 600 miles. It is approximately 150 miles from Athens to Crete. It is only about 50 miles from Dunkerque to Dover. In the British evacuation last spring it was said officially nearly 1,000 vessels of all kinds saved 335,000 Allied troops from the Nazi trap at Dunkerque.

(Prime Minister Churchill acknowledged that those killed, wounded or missing at Dunkerque would exceed 30,000. The British force in Greece has been reported much smaller than that evacuated from Flanders. Associated Press Staff Correspondent Daniel de Luce writing from Turkey that he was informed while in Greece that the British force was less than 100,000 men.)

Meanwhile, peace descended on northern Greece in accord with the terms of the armistice signed in Salonika yesterday afternoon and effective at 6 p. m. (11 a. m. EST) yesterday.

Sees No Hope for Betterment in Greece

SYDNEY—(INS)—There is no hope for a change for the better in Greece, Acting Prime Minister A. W. Fadden told the press today.

"Despite the heroism of our troops and the enemy's losses," he said, "there is no ground for hoping that the fighting in Greece will turn to our advantage.

"We are seeing the last stages of a very gallant rear guard action."

CHURCHILL IN THIRD REQUEST

Again Asks Parliament to Hold Up on War Debate.

LONDON—(AP)—For the second time in three days Prime Minister Winston Churchill asked parliament today to postpone a debate on the war, but hinted he might make a broadcast on the Greek campaign in the meantime.

The prime minister volunteered the remark that he was aware the house expected a debate on the war, and said it would be held "at the earliest moment which enables the government to give a full and reasonable account of what has taken place."

BOMBERS LASH GRECIAN PORTS

Athenians Ignore Air Raid Alarms as Smoke Rolls Over Ancient City.

the Acropolis they would attack Rome and make the Italian capital a target until the end of the war.)

For the most part Athenians ignored the repeated air alarms and the local government, still in residence, continued to carry out its normal functions.

How long the Greek forces, depleted by the surrender of the army of Epirus, could hold the Axis forces away from Athens with the aid of their British allies was doubtful and the Greek high command said nothing to relieve the uncertainty of the civilian population.

The daily war bulletin, devoted entirely to a resume of events leading up to the capitulation of Greek forces on the Epirus front, was far from illuminating.

The chain of events the high command said, was started by the "unexpected dislocation of the Yugoslavian front" which exposed the flank of Greek forces in Albania and necessitated a "vast and hasty withdrawal."

This withdrawal, it was said, was impeded by the swift advance of German panzer units from Bitolj, which cut the Greeks' principal line of retreat and "obliged these forces—which did not possess anti-tank guns — to turn off toward the mountains in which withdrawal and provisioning became problematical."

Despite this situation, the high command said, the Epirus army fought to the last against Italian forces outnumbering it two to one and until the hour of the armistice kept Fascist troops off Greek soil.

(Daniel De Luce, Associated Press correspondent who recently arrived in Turkey from Greece, said not all the Greeks obeyed the withdrawal orders. He told of suicide squads which remained behind in concrete pillboxes, guarded by land mines, determined to make the Axis troops pay dearly for their advance.

(There was no collapse of morale, De Luce declared, commanders who could easily have fled to the coast remaining with their men to the end.)

A communique issued by the ministry of home security acknowledged that German bombing attacks on Greek harbors had done "considerable damage to ships and other installations." It said civilian loss of life was small.

TALK TODAY

Strike Conference Scheduled at Lima Westinghouse Plant.

LIMA—(INS)—A meeting between union representatives and officials of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company's Lima plant was scheduled today after a strike of 80 men in the tool making division caused the idleness of half the plant's 1,800 workers.

Spokesmen for the United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers of America, a CIO affiliate, charged a re-assignment of work in the tool room forced some employes to take lower pay scales.

Company officials said a shortage of materials from the tool division forced a partial shutdown and that more men would be thrown out of work unless a speedy settlement of the dispute is reached.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. Then you may start getting backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

THREE SHOT

Bandit Kills Self Following New York Holdup.

NEW YORK—(AP)—An unidentified woman and a traffic patrolman were shot and a robber killed himself in a series of quick-breaking events following a holdup today at the New York Athletic club at 59th street and 7th avenue.

Three bandits had quietly staged a holdup in an upper floor of the club and were attempting to make their getaway when the shooting started. The woman first was shot, police reported, and then the robbers jumped into a stolen car and sped away. On East 53rd street they collided with a limousine driven by a Negro chauffeur.

Two of the bandits fled on foot and engaged in a running gun battle in which Patrolman George Schuck was shot. The third bandit, apparently caught in the wreckage of the accident, shot himself through the head.

You Meet Such Interesting People.

(And It's the Little Things That Intrigue You.)

Playwright Robert Sherwood, who wrote "Idiot's Delight" and "There Shall Be No Night," is the tallest man I've ever seen in a night club. And the quietest . . . Jackie Kelk, who plays "Homer Brown" on the Aldrich Family series, is a miniature Ray Bolger. Cuts a rug just like Ray, too.

Luise Rainer likes to fall asleep with waltzes from Vienna playing softly in her room. It's a habit formed in the days when she lived in a tiny flat over a Viennese coffee-house and had to go to sleep to music, now, her maid tiptoes in and shuts off the music once Luise is asleep.

James Thurber's "symptoms" list is the only one that can top Moss Hart's

The Valero sisters, who display their midriffs and chant wicked Latin rhumbas at the Rainbow room, wrap themselves up in sombre attire by day and trek reverently to the Metropolitan Opera building to study arias. They want to be opera singers some day.

All theatrical people have superstitions, when you pin them down to it, but Bandleader Mark Warnow has a super-funny one. He never passes a lamp post without touching it for luck.

Allyn Joslyn, the critic-hero of "Arsenic and Old Lace," shaves himself in the bathtub, and without a mirror. And he has a mustache, too. Professor Einstein is the only other personality who has ever admitted publicly to this practice.

Betty Hutlin hangs out in front of the "Panama Hattie" stage door in slacks before the matinees, heckling pedestrians who walk by. . . . Dorothy Lamour allows herself $15 a week for pocket money, and not a farthing more.

When Monte Proser has insomnia, he puts himself to sleep by counting Carmen Amaya's relatives. . . . Most people don't know it, but Frances Faye, the za-zu-zaz girl, is related to Danny Kaye. She still blushes when she recalls the advice she used to give him a few years ago: "Why don't you quit trying to be an actor and get yourself a good, steady job?"

Barney Gallant, the innkeeper, takes delight in adding spice to his nightly gathering of playwrights by starting minor feuds. He will tell William Saroyan all the snide things Sam Behrman said about him, and then he will whisper to Behrman the cutting remark Saroyan pulled about him. To the best of Gallant's knowledge, Saroyan has never said an unkind word about Behrman, or vice versa, but Gallant keeps trying, just for the fun of it.

Slapsy Maxie Rosenbloom loves being asked for his autograph. He was standing in front of "21" the other day and a fan asked him to scribble his signature in her book. Then she saw Eddie Cantor exiting from the restaurant, and tried to grab the book away.

"No you don't," yelped Maxie. "You asked me for my autograph and now you're going to get it whether you like it or not!"

Victor Mature likes girls with cute faces. When he came out of the ether after his recent appendectomy, his first words were: "Have I got a pretty nurse?"

When Richard Waring, Ethel Barrymore's young leading man in "The Corn Is Green," came from England, one of the first things he learned was the interesting fact that your congressman will send you seeds if you write to him. Since then, Richard has been trying — vainly — to parlay some congressional seeds into an apartment garden.

Sonja Henie never gets tired watching other people skate and dance.

Ethel Barrymore reads more boxing trade publications than Hype Igoe or Bill Corum. On fight nights she glues her ear to a portable radio in her dressing room and listens while Joe biffs Slugger to an eight-round finish.

The comedy numbers Grace and Paul Hartman do for money aren't half as funny as the rhumba they do when they're just out dancing for pleasure in a nitery.

Fred Allen is an umbrella-carrier. All he needs is one tiny cloud in the sky, and he feels threatened.

Albert Johnson, the scenic designer, has a passion for moving. Whenever he has nothing to do, he moves into a new apartment.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—Not that I recommend the procedure for extra-curricular application, but getting swacked on the screen is an almost guaranteed method of attracting attention.

Lana Turner has some drunk scenes in "Ziegfeld Girl" which have helped to convince bosses she can act as well as wear sweaters. Ann Sothern, bored with the type of roles she was getting, refused to take any more until something different came along. It did in "Trade Winds," wherein hearty imbibing keyed the character and produced Ann Sothern, comedienne.

ROBBIN COONS

It's the tea (for whisky) and ginger-ale (for champagne) route to film fame. . . .

They're calling the fourth floor of the writers' building at Paramount "Murder Row." Last year scribes Steve Fisher and Stuart Palmer worked in adjoining offices there. Fisher's new novel, "I Wake Up Screaming," opens on a writer "sitting out a contract" at the studio and carries on to a murder a few blocks away. Palmer's new one, "The Puzzle of the Happy Hooligan," hits even closer home — starts with discovery of a writer's body, murdered in his own office—at Paramount. . . .

Champion hello-girl: Martha O'Driscoll. Never forgets to smile, and always seems to mean it....

Garbo, with her new short bob, dual-roles in her new comedy. Two Garbos for the price of one —and both talking....

Richard Lane, in "Tight Shoes," has his 90th movie role in three and a half years, average of 25 a year or thereabouts. Makes sort of a record, considering all the roles carried featured billings and no less than a week's pay....

Chatter Corner

(Just jottings about people you know, as they're seen here and there about town.)

Police Chief Meade K. Bates visiting Camp Perry for advanced firearm instruction. . . . Mayor William J. Locke looking perturbed over something he forgot. . . . Police Department Clerk Helen Baughman preparing a new series of parking meter violation tickets. . . . Municipal Court Clerk Ralph Hughes and Deputy Clerk Freda Gorby reminiscing over childhood days and playing "Spider."

C. O. Diehm clutching his hat in the morning breezes. . . . Anne Menrath window-shopping downtown. . . . Viola Valentine pleased with the box of candy she won. . . . Doris Dent hurrying to cooking school. . . . W. T. Houston wondering whether it was cold enough to wear a topcoat. . . . D. D. Cram putting the finishing touches on the decorations for the Y. M. C. ONLY ONE OF 5 FARMERS O. K.'S CONVOY SYSTEM

Group Interviewed at Random During AAA Meeting In Columbus.

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS—Only one of five Ohio farmers, picked at random from among 250 attending an AAA recommendation meeting in Columbus, today favored the United States convoying food to Great Britain. Three expressed outright opposition to any such move and one said he had no opinion.

Questioned on the convoy proposal and several other farm problems were Justin Coressel, Defiance county; C. A. Lawrence, Ottawa county; Arthur P. Schweizer, Portage county; Ellwood Butler, Fairfield county, and L. J. Shoots, Logan county.

Three of the five expressed opinion that convoying of food to Great Britain would involve us in the war.

However, Schweizer asserted that "our produce is of no use to Great Britain unless we get it there."

"If we are involved as deeply as general appearances would seem," he said, "we had better start convoying. However, we should hold off as long as possible."

Lawrence, a World war veteran, expressing opposition, said:

"We achieved nothing in the World war. Our president should continue a strong armament program at home and use our power for peace. This is an industrial war and no matter who wins, we will come out first, Germany second and England third."

Shoots said that in his opinion we should start convoying "if we want to get into war."

"War, however, would not help the farmer," he said. "We would be in worse shape than at present. Inflationary war prices help no one."

Coressel said convoying "might involve us in war" while Butler declined to express an opinion.

All five voiced the belief that farm production of needed food products for Great Britain and our increased domestic consumption could be stepped up in Ohio as farm labor is available.

PASTOR DIES

Rev. Comer, 69, Had Served In Mansfield, Ashland Churches.

ASHLAND — Rev. Joseph E. Comer, 69, former pastor of Ashland and Mansfield churches and former superintendent of the Ohio conference of United Brethren churches, died at his home here early today. He had been ill the past year and a half.

Rev. Comer was pastor of the U. B. church in Ashland from 1911 to 1914, and from 1917 to 1940, and served the Mansfield church as pastor from 1915 to 1916. He was conference superintendent from 1914 to 1916 and from 1927 to 1933.

He was born Aug. 7, 1871 in Oak Hill, Jackson county. He had served as pastor in Akron, Lorain, Barberton and Massillon.

Surviving are two sons, Paul, of Ashtabula, and George of Mansfield, two daughters, Mrs. Ned Grindle and Mrs. James Donley, both of Ashland, six grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Lola Nichols, and Mrs. Rose Mouch, both of Columbus.

Funeral services will be held at 1:15 p. m. Saturday at the home and at 2:30 p. m. at the U. B. church. Rev. L. J. Hopper, Beach City, will officiate. Burial will be in Ashland cemetery

'SHANTYTOWN' WORKERS FIRED

125 Negroes Dismissed After Perkins Gets Plea on Living Conditions.

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— Lieut. Col. R. S. Chavin, commanding officer at the Ravenna ordnance plant, said today that 125 negro "Shantytown" residents were dismissed from their construction jobs as state officials awaited word from Washington on steps to be taken to improve living conditions near the arsenal.

Colonel Chavin said the men were not dismissed to hasten the closing of the camp for 600 Negro construction workers but because ditch digging work, on which many of them were employed, was "caught up."

George A. Strain, state director of industrial relations, yesterday appealed to Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins for help. He asked Miss Perkins to suggest steps to better living conditions for workers in the tar-paper "tobacco road" settlement.

It was said the discharged workers would seek jobs on a government project near Butler, Pa.

Although emphasizing the desire to clean up the shantytown condition was not the basic cause of the dismissals, Colonel Chavin said that inasmuch as some men had to be laid off, it was felt best to discharge those in the shantytown first to alleviate the poor housing conditions there.

ATTEND TOLEDO S. A. R. SESSION

Rev. Swoyer Heads Mansfield Delegation at Convention.

Rev. Grover E. Swoyer, pastor of the First Lutheran church and president of the Ohio chapters of the Sons of the American Revolution, will head a delegation of Mansfielders to Toledo, Friday, for the opening of the annual state convention of the S. A. R.

Rev. Swoyer will preside at the sessions which will be held Friday and Saturday at the Hotel Commodore Perry. He will be toastmaster at a banquet Friday night. Principal speaker will be Frazier Reams, former Lucas county prosecutor.

Mansfielders planning to attend the convention are Rev. and Mrs. Swoyer; John T. Shook, president of the Mansfield chapter of S. A. R., and Mrs. Shook; Mr. and Mrs. J. Leo Hartmann, and Mr. and Mrs. Guy E. Shawk.

BACK IN O. S. R.

Inmate Who Fled Honor Camp Year Ago Returned.

An Ohio State reformatory inmate who escaped from the Sandusky honor camp a year ago was back behind bars at the institution today.

He is Charles Brown, who was returned from Chicago, Ill., by guards yesterday to complete a 10 to 25-year sentence for robbery. He was committed to the reformatory Dec. 3, 1937, from Franklin county to serve from 10 to 25 years.

LONDON — (INS) — Rushed to completion far ahead of schedule, the 35,000-ton battleship Prince of Wales is at sea in active service with the British fleet, it was announced today.

COMMUNITY FUND WORKERS TO RALLY AT DINNER TOMORROW

Final preparations were being made today for the opening rally-dinner of the Community Fund Friday at the Westinghouse cafeteria and auditorium at 6:30 p. m.

Rehearsal for "The Cavalcade of the Community Fund," dramatization of the 24-hour service extended by the 11 participating agencies was held this afternoon and the dinner committee, with Mrs. V. E. Vining, chairman, expects to check reservations tonight.

Held three days prior to actual launching the campaign for $64,375 next Monday, the rally will permit the 12 majors, responsible for solicitation, an opportunity to outline plans to campaign workers.

Dramatization of agency work is being made so that solicitors will be better prepared to acquaint their potential contributors with the community service made possible by the Fund.

Written by Jane Williams, Community Fund executive secretary, the "Cavalcade" is being directed by Mrs. V. E. Vining and J. Gilbert Baird, with Charles Newcomb as narrator.

The cast for each agency is as follows: Visiting Nurses, Mrs. V. H. Lodde and Marjorie Palmer; Salvation Army, Mrs. Paul Hoffman, Harvey Bailey; Y. W. C. A., Miriam Neese, Mary Lou Sowash; Mansfield General hospital, Ken Woodman and Mrs. Warren Fort; Milk Fund, Tommy Newcomb and Tommy and Betty Weir; Dental Clinic, Ken Woodman and Ned Fort.

Girl Scouts, Hazel Donaldson, Betty Brook, Marvin Gilbert, Anna Parsons; Boy Scouts, John Cook, Paul Rondell, Bob Speary and Bob Campbell; Y. M. C. A., James Young, John Adams, Robert Marth, Richard Wendland, David Richards, Herbert Smith, Robert Oakes and Richard Gross; Community Memorial, Ferd Loykovich.

ILLNESS FATAL

J. D. Jennings, 84, Father of Minister at Perrysville.

PERRYSVILLE—A resident of Ashland county for 50 years, Joseph D. Jennings, 84, father of Lena Jennings, pastor of the Perrysville Presbyterian church, died yesterday at his home, four miles north of Perrysville, following six months' illness.

Mr. Jennings, who was born in Washington, Pa., July 28, 1856, attended Washington and Jefferson college. He was a member of the Perrysville Presbyterian church, where he had served as an elder for many years.

Survivors are two daughters, Lena Jennings and Edna Jennings; and one sister, Mrs. Lydia Snyder, of Ashland.

Funeral services will be held at the Perrysville Presbyterian church, Saturday at 2 p. m. Rev. Guy Volpitto, of Londonville, and Dr. S. W. Young, of Washington, Pa., will conduct the services. Burial will be in the Hayesville cemetery. The body will be at the late home preceding the time of services.

NURSERYMAN DIES

CANTON — (U.P.) — George M. Letherman, 63, president of the Letherman Seed company here and owner of the Letherman nursery near North Canton, died yesterday after an illness of several weeks.

Laff-a-Day

"Bills! Bills! Bills! Couldn't even ONE of you girls go back to your husband for a while?"

L. A. Ott today was recalling an incident 32 years ago when he and his son L. J., who was then about four years old, went to see a fire at the Ford Lumber company. At the corner of Fourth and Diamond streets, a steam pumper, drawn by horses whirled onto the curbing as it attempted to negotiate the turn and lost a wheel. The wheel "pursued" L. A. and his son for some distance before they succeeded in avoiding being hit by it. The wheel, however, so frightened Youngster L. J. that he refused to go on and see the fire, according to his father, who had to take his son home.

All the world may love a lover but Patrolman Clare Kyler is an exception to the rule. Kyler arrested Allen Schulman, Akron, yesterday on a charge of driving at a speed of 62 miles an hour on Lexington avenue. Schulman told Kyler that he was on his honeymoon and "just wasn't thinking what he was doing." Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch fined Schulman $10 and costs in municipal court this morning.

Three of Mansfield's doctors have winged their way south within the past week. Dr. Burr M. Hathaway and Dr. L. D. Bonar are vacationing by plane in Florida for at least a week. Dr. M. C. Oakes also flew south but on more serious business. In one of James (Bud) Harrington's planes he went down to Fort Shelby, Miss., where he was ordered to report for active duty.

County Commissioner C. L. Mitchell, who recently purchased a home on Poplar street, immediately was bitten by the spring gardening bug and started an extensive clean-up campaign. After spending several hours trimming a hedge beside the house, he stood back to admire his work and for a time forget his scratched hands and arms and his aching back. Then a neighbor woman came out and spoiled it all by asking him what he was doing trimming her hedge. Mitchell explained he guessed he hadn't taken enough time to survey the lay of the lots before starting the job.

MEET IN CITY

Manufacturers From District To Discuss U. S. Contracts.

Federal procedure for awarding national defense contracts will be discussed at a luncheon meeting of approximately 50 manufacturers from north central Ohio Monday at 12:30 p. m., at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Elmer M. Rave, national representative of the National Association of Manufacturers, will be one of the principal speakers.

John G. Routzon, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, who has been helping a local committee prepare arrangements for the meeting, said that the group would discuss the government's attitude concerning the awarding of defense contracts. The manufacturers' association has been advocating greater distribution of contracts to large and small industries alike throughout the country.

Rave indicated yesterday that local manufacturers, not members of the association at present, would be asked to help in the program to decentralize contract awards.

SUES MOTORIST

Mansfielder Asks $7,598 Damages For Personal Injuries.

Contending that he received severe arm injuries in a traffic accident which prevented him from working, Oliver M. Elliott, Mansfield, today had filed a suit for $7,598 damages against Tom Georgoff, Mansfield.

Elliott states in his petition that he was injured last July 29 when a car driven by Georgoff knocked him down while he was sweeping the pavement on North Main street. He contends Georgoff was driving at excessive speed. Attys. George Biddle and C. J. Kalbfleisch represent Elliott.

PURCHASE ROLLER

Commissioners Buy Equipment To Repair Roads.

Richland county commissioners yesterday purchased a patch roller from the Galion Iron Works for use in repairing winter damage to the county's black-top roads.

The piece of equipment, which was delivered immediately, cost $2,000 with the county receiving $200 credit for an old patch roller. The machine rolls macadam patches on paving.

SEEKS FUNDS FOR WELFARE INSTITUTIONS

House Gets Highway Patrol Bill, Passes Measure to Bar Communists.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — A proposition to issue $20,000,000 worth of bonds for improvement of the state's overcrowded welfare institutions was sumbitted to the Ohio senate for approval today.

The Ohio supreme court twice has declared similar legislation unconstitutional because it exceeded the state's $750,000 debt limit.

This time, however, Senator James Metzenbaum of Cleveland, an attorney, thinks the bill before the senate will satisfy the court.

It requires the state welfare department help pay off the bonds, but the department would not contract to do so. In the last case the supreme court objected to the state contracting the debt.

Other revenue for retiring the bonds would come from persons sending relatives to state hospitals and from counties, and would be handled by a state institutional building authority.

Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood told the senate banks committee that thousands of insane, feeble-minded and epileptic persons could not find room in state hospitals.

Meanwhile, the senate-approved highway patrol bill was messaged to the house, where its future is uncertain. The opposition, including the Congress of Industrial Organizations, is expected to fight for delay in hope the measure will become lost in the scramble for adjournment.

The proposal, which received a 20 to 13 senate vote, increases the number of patrolmen from 200 to 300 and authorizes them to arrest any motorist suspected of having committed a felony.

The house passed, 95 to 12, a bill barring unAmerican parties from the ballot and sent it to the senate.

Rep. Ralph Siferd (R. Auglaize) said the measure was aimed primarily at the communists.

The house also passed bills permitting cities and counties to buy voting machines on the installment plan and fixing a 48-hour work week plus two weeks vacaton with pay for policemen in cities. They go to the senate for concurrence in amendments.

Two other major bills received the senate's approval. One requires a medical certificate of applicants for marriage and denies a license to persons with contagious syphilis. The other extends for one year the authority of courts to postpone the sale of property in mortgage foreclosures.

Will Discipline Students Seeking OSU Peace Strike

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — Joseph A. Park, dean of men at Ohio State university, said disciplinary action would be taken today in the student court against six students charged with the illegal distribution of handbills for campus "peace strike."

Two of the six students were questioned at police headquarters after the demonstration yesterday. Park said the six were "part of a group which met in defiance of school orders." He added that court recommendations would be submitted to President Howard L. Bevis for action.

Police turned over literature taken from David H. Rosen of Cleveland and Bernard N. Krasik of Glassoprt, Pa., to FBI investigators.

Park said that besides Rosen and Krasik, George D. Currie of Newark, David E. Friedlander, of Cleveland, May Manning of Chesterland, O., and Robert Northrup of Belmont, Mass., would appear before the court.

At the campus rally, a resolution was passed to protest to President Roosevelt against convoys and the formation of an American expeditionary force.

ATTEND TYPO UNION MEETING

Mansfielders to Be Present at 68th Semi-Annual Session.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard T. Powell and Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Graham will represent the Mansfield Typographical union and auxiliary at the 68th semi-annual session of the Ohio Typographical conference in Columbus Saturday and Sunday.

Graham and Powell are delegates from the Mansfield union, No. 420 and Mrs. Powell is a delegate from the auxiliary. A number of other union members from Mansfield are expecting to attend.

An address by Gov. John W. Bricker will highlight the conference, which opens with a joint meeting of the women's and men's groups Saturday at 8 p. m. Headquarters will be at the Deshler-Wallick hotel.

Student Aid New Activity of Fund

Shoes and Clothing to Be Given Needy School Children Next Year.

Shoes and clothing for Mansfield school students financially unable to provide their own will be made possible next year through Student Aid, a new subdivision of the Milk Fund recently created by the Community Fund executive board.

Student aid has been an important part of School Attendance Officer John H. Eisaman's work since he assumed that position three years ago. So far it has been maintained through gifts of clothing and the cash contributions of various organizations and individuals.

In two years, exclusive of the current school year, he has supplied clothing to 150 children and has distributed 378 garments, both new and reconditioned. Last year 148 pairs of shoes were given out including 98 new pairs.

Some of the time the work was operated on a hand-to-mouth basis according to the attendance officer who said "In several cases of emergency I had to ask for help outright."

Parent-Teacher associations of each school, Mothers' clubs, Sunday school classes and other groups have assisted the project heretofore.

The new division will receive $600 of the $2,000 allotted under the budget of the Milk Fund and will permit Eisaman to work with greater ease in handling needy cases.

"When students are properly clothed their interest in school increases, and school attendance is improved," Eisaman said.

He also explained that since money from the state school foundation fund is based upon average daily attendance the school system loses 35 cents every day that a student is absent.

No cost of administration will be attached to Student Aid as it will be handled through the Community Fund executive office the same as the Milk Fund.

The sole purpose of the Milk Fund, of which Jane Williams is secretary, is to provide milk for the undernourished children attending the public schools, St. Peter's parochial school and the kindergarten at Friendly House.

Last year the Fund paid for 55,218 bottles of milk and this year the Fund has allotted $1,400 for the purpose.

School nurses and teachers determine the children needing the extra nourishment that a half-pin of milk gives both morning and afternoon and all children receive their bottles at the same time so there is no distinction made between the children to whom the Fund furnishes milk and the children whose parents supply it. Parents last year paid for 33,536 bottles.

Milk Fund bills are sent directly to the Community Fund office so there is no overhead or cost in administration.

Balanced Diet Found to Add No Extra Cost

AMHERST, Mass.—(U.P.)—Wise-spending, more often than a large income, determines the quality of a family diet, says Miss May E. Foley, extension nutritionist at Massachusetts State College.

To obtain a well-balanced diet for a minimum expenditure, Miss Foley suggests that each child be allotted one quart of milk daily, and each adult, one pint. This includes, fluid, dry or evaporated milk used in cooking, and also ice cream and cheese.

Plan four or five servings of vegetables and fruits for each person daily. Include at least one serving of potatoes, tomatoes or citrus fruits, leafy green or yellow vegetables, and fruits.

Adults should have three to five eggs weekly, and young children, five to seven each. Meat, fish or poultry should be served five times weekly, daily if possible. One cereal daily and bread and butter at every meal are recommended.

INDUSTRY BOOMS

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah—(U.P.)—Utah industry experienced its best year in a decade in 1940, a report by the state department of placement and unemployment insurance has revealed. Payrolls totaled $100,845,000, distributed among 7,000 employers.

SHOWS DECLINE IN ATTENDANCE

More Absent In Schools In March; 2,946 Are Neither Absent Nor Tardy.

Attendance in Mansfield schools during March averaged 93.2 per cent, a slight decline from the 94 per cent in February, principals' reports to Supt. W. L. Miller showed today.

Woodland school had the best average last month, reporting a 96.2 per cent attendance. The Prospect and Brinkerhoff schools were tied for second with 96 per cent.

Cases of tardiness last month dropped to 810 from 919 in February, while there were 28 truancy cases reported in March as compared to 33 during the preceding month.

Only five of the city's 13 schools reported truancy in March. Senior high headed the list with 15 and John Simpson junior high was second with eight.

Senior high school also topped the list in cases of tardiness, reporting 290 as compared to 130 at the Bowman school and 88 at Johnny Appleseed junior high school.

A total of 2,946 pupils were neither absent nor tardy last month, which was not up to the February report which listed 3,184 pupils with perfect records.

Average enrollment in the schools was 6,175 in March and 6,166 in February.

RATE DOWN

Low Toll Fixed For New Alabama Tunnel.

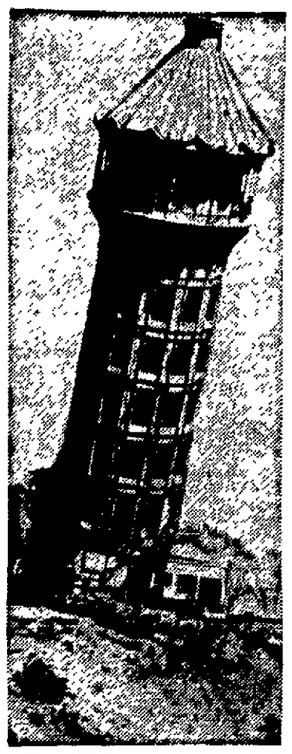
MOBILE, Ala.—(UP)—The new $4,000,000 Bankhead Tunnel under the Mobile river will have the second lowest vehicular tunnel toll rates in the United States.

Tremendous increase in traffic over U. S. Highways 31 and 90 which converge on the tunnel have made this low rate possible.

The rate schedule adopted by the Mobile city commission provides a 25-cent flat rate for passenger cars and taxis, with no additional charge for passengers. Rate of tolls range from 15 cents for bicycles to $1 for five-ton trucks.

Boston is the only other city in the nation with lower tunnel tolls.

London Tower Goes



The 250-foot north tower of the Crystal Palace in London is demolished by dynamite because the bomb-shattered structure acted as a guiding pylon for German flyers in raids over the British capital. The more than 800 tons of cast iron in the structure will be converted into arms and munitions.

U. S. WILL KEEP HEMISPHERE LINE ELASTIC

Experts In Washington Refuse To Bound Western Areas.

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— What are the boundaries of the western hemisphere?

Proposals in congress to restrict the use of American soldiers, sailors and marines to that area made its geographical definition a knotty problem for those concerned with formulation of national and foreign policy.

But it appears that geographers never have been in agreement on hemispheric limits, and appear no nearer a solution today.

The administration was understood to favor a "common sense" definition. Defense of the hemisphere, it was said, might involve defense outposts even beyond those which the makers of school textbooks consider a part of the hemisphere.

For example, the question whether Iceland or the Azores Islands are within the hemisphere might be simple to a geographer but in questions of national defense they might become of highest importance.

Geographers always have disagreed over the dividing line in the Atlantic where Iceland is concerned. But none has included the Azores in the Western Hemisphere.

Because the question has assumed such national importance, geographers and geographical societies shy away from it. Samuel Boggs, state department geographer, does not discuss it. His official position bars him from comment on such possibly controversial objects. But his opinion unofficially will carry weight as an official definition is expected.

Rep. Boggs, in answer to a query from Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers, Republican, Massachusetts, said further that "Western Hemisphere" was an "indefinite term." If added, it is commonly understood to include continental lands of North, Central and South America and the Caribbean.

Both Boggs and all others, however, agree that the international boundary in the Pacific is the 180th meridian.

Then why not do as thousands of thrifty housewives do—use Wilson's for the whole family?

Wilson's Milk is just whole milk, minus half the water evaporated away, that's all. Irradiation with "sunshine" ultra-violet rays gives it increased Vitamin D content. It's always safe and uniform. Wilson's is homogenized too—there's cream in every drop.

STUDENT PILOTS START ON NEW TRAINING TODAY

10 Begin on Secondary Flight Course at Airport; New Airplane To Be Used.

Enrolled in the first course of its kind in the country, ten select student pilots from Mansfield and other parts of the state were to begin secondary training today at the Mansfield municipal airport.

The course will be unique in that these non-college pilots, who obtained primary training under the government's Civilian Pilot Training program, will be given a chance to continue their instruction under government sponsorship.

College pilots have been given secondary training but this will be the first school of its kind for non-college pilots. The secondary training will fit them to serve as pilots in the Army or Navy Air Corps or as a commercial airline pilot.

The enrolled students were selected as the best men in primary training courses held all over the state. Four Mansfield youths will be included among the ten who will undergo 40 hours of acrobatic and night flying under the direction of James R. Harrington, airport manager and government instructor. Harrington will be assisted in the secondary training by Sam Christy of Youngstown.

Purchased especially for the training, Harrington will use a new $7,400 low-wing monoplane Howard secondary training plane. He flew it in from Chicago yesterday and yesterday tested it for acrobatic flying.

Harrington said that the secondary course although scheduled to take about three months would probably be completed in about eight weeks.

In those eight weeks, the pilots will learn slow, sharp and barrel rolls, spirals, and all sorts of acrobatic flying. In addition to this they will practice night flying and will also attend night ground school session at John Simpson Junior high school. At the school sessions held five nights a week, they will be taught all subjects necessary to equip them for Army or Navy Air Corps entrance.

Harrington said that the local school was a part of the government's plan to supply 2,500 flying instructors within the next year for Army and Navy work and also 500 co-pilots for air lines.

The secondary course will be followed by other 40-hour courses in which the students will undergo a student instructor's course, a cross country course, and a review.

Harrington announced that the Ohio Public Service company had recently installed new obstruction lights on poles near the airport and that he had purchased boundary lights to mark the field for night flying.

Mansfielders included in the class will be Charles Bookwalter, Anton Letang, Robert McClurg and Dwight Terrell. Others include: Elwin Conwell and Alexander Robinson of New Philadelphia; Charles Hunt and David Robb of Cleveland and John McGuyrt and Wilbur Riesback of Canton.

The youths have given up their employment and were to start full-time training today.

Plane In Which Student Pilots Will Train

Shown above is the new Howard low-wing monoplane recently purchased by James R. Harrington, airport manager, for training students enrolled in the nation's first non-college advanced Civilian Pilot training school which will be conducted at the airport. Harrington is shown in the front cockpit before going aloft on a test hop. In the rear cockpit is Ralph Shelton, executive vice president of the Art Rattan works, who accompanied Harrington on the flight.

CATERER URGES TABLE SERVICE BY 'SALES LADY'

Employes Training Head Says Business Should Be More Dignified.

TULSA, Okla.—(U.P.)—Away with the "hash slinger," the "java moll" and the "dish skidder"—enter the "food salesperson" who can make the restaurant customer hungry with her description of the provender she can set before him.

John B. O'Meara, who will conduct a restaurant and hotel employes training school here at the behest of the Oklahoma Restaurant Association, says the waitress and waiter business should be more dignified.

To begin with, he doesn't like the term "waitress," but prefers "sales ladies" or maybe food merchandisers.

He thinks the worst offense of waitresses is indifference.

"Customers like to have their wants anticipated," he says. "When a food dispenser (that's the waitress) serves a cup of coffee, she should push the sugar bowl within reach of her client (that's the customer) and give the impression she is not only anxious but even eager to serve him further.

"She must guard against slovenly poise, frowsy hair, unnecessary conversation, a forbidding expression, and, of all things, gum chewing.

"She should be able to describe the food in a manner to make the client drool with anticipation. That takes knowledge of food."

HEAR OF DEATH

GALION — Word was received here this week of the death of Edwin W. Schrock, former Galion resident, who died at his home in Spencer, Iowa, Monday. The body was brought to Mansfield Wednesday for burial.

The deceased was married to Minnie Linnell who preceded him in death. One son, Rev. A. Linnell Schrock, vicar of the Northwestern Episcopal district, Iowa, with headquarters at Spencer, survive.

Erosion Found To Cost Iowa Farmers In Livestock.

AMES, Ia. —(U.P.)— When erosion rips away the farmer's soil, it also takes away some of his livestock.

A survey of a selected group of farms in Adair county, Iowa, shows that badly eroded farms have considerably less livestock than farms with little erosion, reports John A. Hopkins, agricultural economist at Iowa State College.

There is also a great difference in the kind of livestock raised, he said.

"Acreages and yields of corn and soybeans were lower on the eroding farms, and total feed production was smaller," Hopkins explained. "Because of lower grain yields the eroding hilly farms had a larger proportion of hay and pasture.

DEFENSE BONDS ON SALE MAY 1

Postoffice Will Also Begin Sale of Savings Stamps.

United States defense savings bonds and postal savings stamps will be placed on sale in the Mansfield postoffice May 1, according to an announcement today by H. E. Homberger, postmaster.

The new defense savings bond is similar to the familiar "baby bond." As a part of "an easy payment plan," the postoffice will have a new series of Postal savings stamps. The stamps will be sold for 10, 25 and 50 cents, as well as one and five dollars.

A pocket album has been prepared by the government in which the investor may keep stamps until enough have been bought to purchase a $25 bond, or one of higher denomination.

Baked with added nutrients that are vitally necessary in the American diet.

Each pound contains a minimum of:

THIAMINE (VITAMIN B_1) 1 mg.: The "Morale Vitamin", essential to normal nerve functioning; promotes growth; is needed to help the body turn carbohydrate foods (starches and sugar) into useful energy.

THE P-P FACTOR (AN ESSENTIAL OF THE VITAMIN B COMPLEX) 4 mg.: Helps maintain normal functioning of the digestive tract and of the skin.

IRON—4 mg.: Needed to help the body build red blood cells.

on the recommendation of the Food and Nutrition Committee of the National Research Council. This Committee is composed of America's leading authorities in the field of nutrition. It specifies bread of this kind as one of the most important phases of the Nation's great program for the better health and stamina of its citizens.

TOO OLD

Registree Stricken Off, Finds He's 44 and Not 34.

JEANNETTE, Pa. — (U.P.) — A Jeannette man will not be subject to call for selective service because he is 10 years older than he thought he was when he registered.

The registrant walked into local draft board headquarters and informed officials he had made a "mistake" in stating his age on Oct. 16. The error, he said, was 10 years.

"I am 44 years of age—not 34," he explained. And he had a birth certificate to prove it.

He said he had been an orphan since childhood, and had to check courthouse records to ascertain his actual age. The local board accepted his story and crossed his name from its rolls.

'Sadie Hawkins' Day to Feature Ontario Program

The annual spring party at Springfield township school at Ontario will be held in the form of a "Sadie Hawkins" day at the school Friday evening.

Members of the ticket committee are Jay Rinehart, Louanne Berger, Miriam Yuncker, Betty Dufner and Burdell Rader.

Australia cancelled its duck hunting season because of the war and a draught.

Cast In Events to Be Staged By Two District Schools

Shown in these photographs are some of the principals who will take part in events to be staged by Madison township and Hayesville schools. In the upper left photo, left to right, are, Margaret Tingley, Virginia McLaughlin and Genevieve Harrison, vocalists, who will play a leading role in the Madison township grade school spring music festival to be given Friday evening at Madison township high school. Approximately 300 pupils from the township grade schools will participate in the event. Lower left is David McBride, Kay Jesson, Jo Anna Hawkins and John Auer, members of the grade school toy band. Upper right are members of the junior class of Hayesville high school who will present a three-act comedy, "The Man In the Green Shirt," at 8 p. m. tonight in the high school auditorium. In the front row from left to right are Ethel Echelberger, Maxine McGuire, Ruth Herschler, Helen Bender, Bertha Moffet, Maxine Stumbaugh. Back row, Donald Good, William Stafford, Blair Kahl, Kenneth Hawkins, and W. J. Hines, instructor.

PLANETARIUM

PHILADELPHIA —(U.P.)—Aaron Liss, a factory employe by day and an amateur astronomer by night, has completed a scale model of the universe which will fit in a two-pound candy box. His solar system — measuring one inch to 45,000,000 miles — is dubbed the candy-box planetarium.

TOWN HAS 9

SIOUX FALLS, S. D.—(UP)—Final population figures for South Dakota cities and towns show Witten, S. D., to be the state's, if not the nation's, smallest incorporated community. Witten, situated in Tripp county, lost 298 residents since the 1930 census. It now boasts a total population of nine persons.

NEW JARGON

Slang of Army Likely To Gain Wide Use Soon.

BOSTON —(UP)— Americans soon will begin adding army slang to their everyday speech as the nation's youth enter training camps, according to Prof George B Franklin, Boston University philologist.

Already, Franklin says, World war days are echoed in such words as "chow" and "slumgullion" to designate food. The present conflict he says has brought such words as "blitzkrieg," "luftwaffe," "stuka" and "spitfire."

"There are such echoic words as 'ack-acks' for anti-aircraft guns, 'chatterbox' for machine guns and 'moana' for bombers which are used by British fliers," he says

For visual slang Franklin includes such words as "hip flask" for revolver, "roller skates" for tanks and a "Mae West" for a life jacket which bulges

The United States has 2,364 communities with populations of 2,500 to 10,000

Measure Rainfall By the 'Yard' Instead of Inches

SACRAMENTO, Cal —(INS)— Rainfall is now being measured by the "yard" instead of inches in the Los Padres National Forest.

Along the coast ridge in Monterey county, foresters have been guessing for years as to the extent of rainfall in that district. Last year they installed a 120-inch rain gauge on the ridge, which they thought was ample. At the close of the rainy season, however, they found the gauge filled and overflowed.

This year a 150-inch gauge was put in its place on the 3,500 foot level. Foresters have not been able to reach the gauge this season but they anticipate it too may be filled and spilling over its brim. If the 4-yard gauge is not ample to measure the rainfall they promised to place even a larger one in its place.
